Pacific Islands Just Preparations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary Knox indicated this afternoon that the present American strategy of limited island advances in the Pacific is but preparation for powerful and decisive thrusts against the strategic strongpoints of the Japanese empire.

Kassel Bombed

LONDON (CP)—Strong formations of U.S. heavy bombers attacked the Fieseler aircraft works at Kassel, Germany, today, a joint American and British communiqué announced tonight.

Hockey Player Jailed

DETROIT (AP)—James V. Orlando, Detroit Red Wing hockey player, was convicted by a Federal court jury late today of violating the Selective Service Act, and was sentenced to four years in prison and fined $2,000.

6-Mile Drive Made By Russians

LONDON (AP)—Russian troops moved ahead in various sectors up to six miles in the drive on Orel, capturing more than 20 populated places from the German defenders, a special Soviet bulletin said tonight.

Hints Fruit Ceiling

WINNIPEG (CP)—Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, said here today that "something may be done shortly" to impose a ceiling on prices of fruit and vegetables in Canada. "Mind you, I don't know anything definite," he warned, "but there is a chance something may be done."

Rome 'Considers'

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rome radio, in a French-language broadcast beamed to France, said today "the Italian people is considering with great understanding those conditions which the enemy proposes and is aware of the seriousness of the dilemma."

Blue Network Sold

NEW YORK (AP)—Signing of an agreement for the sale of the Blue Network Co. Inc. for $5,000,000 in cash to Edward J. Noble, former Under Secretary of Commerce, chairman of the Life Savers Corporation and owner of Station WMCA, New York, was announced late today by David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America.

ALGIERS (AP)—The dispute between Gen. de Gaulle and Gen. Giraud over the fusion of their armed forces was reported today to have broken out again and more violently than before.

Crops Deteriorate

WINNIPEG (CP)—Further crop deterioration, particularly in Alberta and Saskatchewan, due to extreme heat and lack of moisture, was reported today in weekly crop reports issued by the agricultural departments of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways.

Man Killed By Truck

P. Hunter, 65, a married man living at Prince George, died on Thursday night as a result of injuries suffered earlier when an army truck hauling gravel passed over his body near Steel Bridge, crossing the Fraser River at Prince George.

A brief radio message to B.C. Police headquarters here said Hunter was attempting to jump on the moving truck when he slipped, the rear wheels of the machine passed over his hip and legs.

Allied Ship Saved

LISBON (AP)—A huge Allied transport ship, listing and badly damaged, was towed into the river Tagus today by three tugboats.

Italian Troops Refuse Orders to Shoot On Milan Crowds Shouting 'Peace'

Himmler Rushed To Hamburg Riot

NEW YORK (AP)—The Moscow radio, in a broadcast recorded by CBS, reported today that Heinrich Himmler, head of all German police, had arrived in Hamburg on a visit "prompted by recent peace demonstrations following the recent air raids on Hamburg."

The report, quoting a Stockholm message, said "the demonstrators demanded an immediate discontinuation of the war and called for an active struggle against Hitler. . . . Authorities were at a loss and didn't know how to deal with the situation; in fact, many had fled the city."

Bombs Pour Down 50 Tons a Minute

LONDON (AP)—R.A.F. bombers made the third 2,300-ton assault of the week Thursday night on Hamburg, with bombs showering down at a rate of more than 50 tons a minute for 45 minutes on Germany's greatest port and second city.

It was the great north German port's seventh pounding since Saturday night. "Never before in the history of air warfare," the Air Ministry news service said, "has an attack of such weight and persistence been made against a single industrial target; no other target in Germany has had more than 2,000-ton attack."

Fires have been raging in the city without stop for six days. Canadians returning from Thursday's raid told of German efforts to combat Allied aerial fleets systematically destroying Hamburg by increased use of searchlights.

"There were three times as many beams last night as on the second raid," said Sgt. Ldr. John Mahoney of Ottawa.

Several squadrons of the R.C. A.F. bomber group were on the raid, including the Moose squadron.

Most of the pilots echoed the observation of P.O. Gordon Barnholden of Moose Jaw, Sask., a bombaimer, that "Hamburg seemed absolutely burned out and I don't see what would be the sense of owning real estate there."

Others in the operation included Sgts. Frank Wheeler of Prince George, B.C., and P.Os. Alan Harris of Vancouver and Harold Hewitt of Lac Vert, Sask.

Victoria Boys In Thick of Fight For Sicilian City

Lieut. Rex Carey, former amateur boxing champion of B.C. and Washington State, who is mentioned by Ross Munro, CP war correspondent, as being in the thick of the battle for Sicily.

Born in England, the former middleweight came to Canada as a child with his parents, the late Col. L. de V. Carey, O.B.E., and Mrs. Carey of Victoria. He attended St. Aidan's School, Colwood.

Prior to joining the 1st Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, in August, 1942, he had a distinguished career in amateur and professional boxing, winning the B.C. middleweight championships in 1935-36, 37, and the Vancouver City and Washington State titles. He was a Golden Gloves finalist in 1937-38 and reached the finals of the Empire Games at Sydney, Australia. He had 18 professional bouts, winning 15 of them.

In 1940 he transferred to the P.P.C.L.L. went overseas and subsequently won a commission. Also mentioned in Munro's latest dispatch were Leo Jantzen of Victoria and Lieut. R. W. "Sam" Potts, son of Maj.-Gen. A. E. Potts, G.O.C. Vancouver Island troops, whose headquarters are in Victoria. Lieut. Potts is a native of Saskatchewan.

F.W. Plant Blasted

LONDON (CP)—Photographs taken at Warnemunde in the United States said Thursday showed bomb bursts "smothered" almost every unit of the Ernst Heinkel Flugzeugwerke, important producers of Focke-Wulf 190 fighters, the U.S. 8th Bomber Command reported today. An adjoining railway also was wrecked. At Kiel, bombs blanketed important installations of the Kriegsmarine's U-boat building yards.

9 Canadian Units In Sicily Identified

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA (CP)—Allied headquarters today disclosed that nine Canadian battalions are engaged in the Sicilian fighting under Maj.-Gen. Guy Simonds.

The regiments: The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Picton, Ont., designated territorially as an Eastern Ontario Regiment.

The Royal Canadian Regiment of London, Ont., Toronto, St. John's, Que., and Halifax, a permanent force unit.

The 48th Highlanders of Canada, Toronto.

The Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, Winnipeg and Victoria, a permanent force unit.

The Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, Vancouver.

The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, Edmonton.

The Royal 22nd Regiment, Quebec, a third permanent force unit.

The West Nova Scotia Regiment, Bridgewater, N.S.

The Carleton and York Regiment, St. Stephen, N.B., part of the territorial New Brunswick Regiment.

Besides these nine battalions, Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent with the Canadians in Sicily, has mentioned in his stories a Saskatchewan machine gun battalion, Canadian light anti-aircraft forces, Canadian artillery and a Quebec tank unit, none of which have been identified.

(Thursday the next-of-kin of Lt.-Col. Bruce Sutcliffe of Belleville, Ont., officer commanding the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, was advised he had been killed in action.)

Germans Seize 5 Italian Subs

MADRID (AP)—New fighting between German and Italian troops in northern Italy and establishment by the Germans of a guard over five Italian submarines they found at Fiume were reported in messages to Madrid today.

Nazi crews were said to be en route to take over the submarines for use against Allied landings on the Dalmatian coast.

A methodical Nazi military occupation of the Istrian peninsula and the whole Udine region from the Gulf of Trieste to the Austrian border was outlined in advice direct from Rome.

It appeared the Germans might be bent on occupying all the territory north of the Po River, which they consider necessary to their defence plans.

NAZIS QUIT, TOO, IN SICILY—German troops have put up the stiffest resistance the Allies have encountered in Sicily, but even Hitler's lads quit when they know what's good for them. Malahat Logging Continues While Protests Pile Up

While individuals and organizations express horror at what they term despoliation of the Malahat, logging is continuing and daily big trees are toppling, leaving the once-famed highway extremely bare in spots.

"This is privately-owned and the owners are logging it—that's all there is to it," said an official of the Department of Lands today. "Nothing can stop this, unless the government buys it or arranges a trade, as was done in the Butte Lake area."

Visitors from United States points have taken up the cry. Arthur T. Shallins of Portland returned to Victoria from up-Island today and said it was a "wicked shame" the way trees are being chopped down.

"It has been five years since I drove over the Malahat and I sure could notice the difference," he said. "Why, the place is becoming positively ugly, what with a long line of hideous telephone poles blotting out the view and great bare patches, where once stood magnificent trees. I tell you, it's a darn shame—I don't care who owns those trees—authorities shouldn't allow them to be cut down in this catch-as-catch-can fashion."

R. H. Pooley, K.C., former attorney general and for many years M.L.A. for Esquimalt constituency, in which is located the Malahat, said today someone would have to move pretty quickly if the trees are to be saved.

"They'll have to get going at once, if the trees are to be given full facilities."

served—it is up to someone in the government to ask that logging be held up for a spell—it is liable to be too late next week; there must be a move at this minute," said Mr. Pooley, who, during his public career was instrumental in saving large stands of Vancouver Island timber for posterity.

R. W. Buller of "The Lookout" came to town today with reports all the beautiful McCurdy property, recently sold to a group of Hindus, is being logged.

"It's going to be a shambles," Mr. Buller said, "but there doesn't seem much that can be done about it now. A lot of it has been spoiled already."

Logging on this property is going on along the road, from about Mile 19 to Mile 21, Mr. Buller said, adding that, in his opinion, this property should have been turned into a park, thus preserving the name of the owner forever.

More Correspondents

WITH THE CANADIANS IN CENTRAL SICILY (Delayed, CP)—A group of Canadian war correspondents waiting in north Africa to get into Sicily will be joining the Canadian forces here shortly.

In these early stages the number of correspondents in Sicily has been limited, but Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery said in an interview today that the Canadian group in north Africa now could come over and would be given full facilities.

Badoglio Clamps Down Hard Fears National Revolution

BERNE (AP)—Italian troops have revolted at Milan, refusing to obey orders to fire on demonstrating patriots who swept the streets by the thousands shouting demands for peace, a Chiasso dispatch said today.

Premier Pietro Badoglio ousted the Milan military commander, Gen. Canale, and ordered Gen. Vittorio Ruggiero, chief of an Alpinist division, to take over in that industrial area, it was reported.

These and other sharp measures were taken by Badoglio, seeking to quell domestic unrest and prevent dissemination of the peace offer broadcast to Italy Thursday by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. But talk of an armistice persisted.

Chiasso, from which came the account of Milan developments, is a Swiss frontier town 28 miles north of Milan.

(Paul Archibald, NBC reporter in Berne, said today the Italian people, "despite all sorts of official denials, are convinced some sort of peace talks are in progress.")

(Axis propagandists insisted normality was returning rapidly to Italy. A Stefani dispatch from Rome, broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press, said "complete peace and quiet prevails in all provinces," and in Milan, Rome, Turin, Genoa and other cities.)

Military Courts Start Sentencing

(A Florence military court was the first to pass a sentence under the new martial law regime, another Rome message said. The court committed one Alfredo Simoncini to six months in jail on a charge of spreading alarming rumors.)

Panic and Riots Sweep Bulgaria

NEW YORK (CP)—The BBC reported today that unrest is mounting in Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, where "the reinforced Gestapo no longer has the situation under control."

The broadcast, recorded here by CBS, said demonstrating crowds had beaten the leader of the Bulgarian Fascist movement.

The Bulgarian parliament was the scene of a violent debate endeavored to quell rioters in Milan by sounding false air raid alarms to drive the people to shelters whenever the situation grew gravest.

A definite stiffening of governmental discipline was described in reports reaching Berne. Badoglio's army-enforced decrees sharply limiting freedom of expression by newspapers aroused bitterness among liberal and leftist political leaders.

Many described the new censorship measures as smacking of those which Mussolini and his ousted Fascist regime had imposed during the past 20 years.

Badoglio, however, did not succeed in keeping the Eisenhower speech from the public. While countless thousands listened to it on the radio, mimeographed copies appeared on the streets of the principal cities a few hours after its publication had been banned in the newspapers.

All Discussing Eisenhower Speech

Travelers from Rome, Milan, Genoa and other centres said the peace speech was the sole topic of conversation in homes, streets and cafes.

Gen. Eisenhower's broadcast came while Italians paraded in Milan and other cities carrying banners inscribed with the slogans "We Want Peace," and "We Want Our Sons Back."

Meanwhile, strikes continued in a number of important northern factories and there was sporadic fighting in sectors north of Rome. German troops moved into Fiume and Trieste in considerable numbers to maintain order and suppress incipient demonstrations for an independent Slav state.

British War Cabinet Plans Action

LONDON (CP)—The war cabinet met twice today amid speculations over the possibility of Italy's asking peace terms.

Prime Minister Churchill called the first session at 1:30 a.m. and a second meeting was held later in the day.

There was no official indication of what was discussed, but the ministers presumably were concerned with some major turn in the Italian situation.

Speculation arose immediately over the possibility that Premier Pietro Badoglio of Italy had asked for peace terms, but despite the hour it was stated reliably that it is "not unusual for such meetings to take place at any time."

A spokesman added that "it would not necessarily be correct to attribute any special significance to this early morning meeting in connection with the immediate war situation."

One source said the meeting was believed connected with military developments, rather than political.

Nevertheless, it was noted that events were moving rapidly in floundering Italy and were under close scrutiny by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

Explosion Delays Mine Operations

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — The Hornet Mine, which had been closed since the explosion of between 10 and 15 tons of dynamite Thursday, will not resume full operations for several days, Supt. J. G. Huseby said today.

The explosion came when fire of undetermined origin broke out in a brick powder magazine. Two hundred miners had gone back into the mine just before the blast. Only two men were injured.

The mill building was almost entirely destroyed, but the machinery was largely undamaged, as was the mine itself.

U.S. Allocates Pulp

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war production pulp and paper division announced today it had allocated to paper mills available supplies of wood pulp through-out August, to maintain maximum production of essential military and civilian paper and paper-board and forestall the closing of plants.

The use of market wood pulp was restricted in both integrated and non-integrated mills. W.P.B. will notify each mill of the amount of pulp it will be allowed to consume.

The order is expected to have little effect on newsprint, most of which is made in Canada.

2,000 More Tons of Bombs Blast Much-Battered Port of Hamburg; Other Targets Hit Experiment to Prove Possibility Of Total Paralysis of City By Air

LONDON (CP) — R.A.F. and Canadian bombers dropped more than 2,000 tons of explosives on Hamburg Thursday night, it was announced today, giving that great north German port its seventh pounding since Saturday night.

It was learned a great many Canadian bombers participated in this attack, as they have in every Hamburg raid since the round-the-clock bombings began last week-end.

The air ministry said the attack was made "in very great strength" and that the delivery of explosives was accomplished despite increased ground defences and numerous German fighters. Twenty-eight bombers were reported missing. A half dozen enemy planes were destroyed on this and other raids, the air ministry said.

An R.A.F. communiqué said squadrons of the Canadian bomber group participated in the Hamburg raid and that two of the 28 missing bombers were Canadian. R.C.A.F. intruders also bombed airfields and rail targets in France.

The massive attack stirred speculation that Hamburg is being made the subject of an Allied experiment to determine whether a city that large can be paralyzed completely from the air.

Results achieved in the persistent day and night bombing of Germany's second largest city and submarine nest were viewed as likely to determine the pattern of the air war for the next few months.

BERLIN SOON

In this connection it was noted that lengthening nights will bring Berlin itself within the range of heavy day and night bombings by October or November.

Russian Cavalry Goes Into Action As Mud Prevails

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN
MOSCOW (AP) — German forces fighting desperately to hold Orel at all costs brought in fresh units from France and Germany Thursday, but failed to check the crushing Soviet drive, the Russians announced today.

When knee-deep mud and driving rain threatened for a time to slow their massive tanks and infantry, the Red Army turned to a cavalry charge to throw the Germans from three fortified positions, front line dispatches said. Nazi forces, giving under the weight of the charge, were reported to have left 600 dead and large quantities of arms behind.

A Soviet communiqué which detailed Thursday's thrusts at Orel said upwards of 3,000 Germans were killed at the key city's approaches and gains up to six miles were registered as 40 additional villages were occupied.

SMASH NAZI ATTEMPT

The German counterattacked east of Orel in an attempt to regain the offensive, but the Russians said they beat off the waves of infantry and forged ahead after inflicting heavy losses.

A German regiment of 1,500 to 1,800 men was wiped out in another Orel battle when Nazi infantry supported by 30 tanks struck back at the advancing Russian columns, the communiqué said, and added that 10 of the attacking tanks were burned out or disabled.

(Berlin broadcast admitted the German defenders of Orel were on the defensive all day Wednesday, but claimed Russian attempts to break through the city's inner defences were repulsed with 185 Russian tanks destroyed, 100 of them north of the city).

RECAPTURE VILLAGE

In the Belgorod area 165 miles to the south, where the Russians have regained territory lost to the Nazis in the first phases of the summer campaign, the Soviet war bulletin said Red Army forces went on the offensive again and drove the Germans from a village. Another battle raged for a short

British Warships Shell Italy's 'Toe'

NEW YORK (CP) — The BBC said in an overseas broadcast today that correspondents in Sicily reported British cruisers and destroyers shelled the Italian mainland Thursday without opposition.

The broadcast was recorded by U.S. government monitors. It added: "Their objective was a stretch of railway skirting the shore south of Crotone, along which are some bridges."

Hamburg, with her 1,000,000 inhabitants, has been scarred by five British and Canadian night and two U.S. daylight raids since Saturday, and flames and smoke from the stricken city have served as beacons for each successive raid.

Thursday night's attack was the 105th of the war carried out on that city by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F., but this week's concentrated assault on the city apparently was aimed at blowing it off the map.

American medium bombers swept out at daylight today to continue the round-the-clock aerial attacks on Germany and occupied territory in the war's greatest air offensive by blasting at the German airfield at Wendscheid in Holland.

HIT MANY TARGETS

Swift British Mosquito planes hit at other targets in Germany during the night while R.A.F. fighters strafed airfields and railways at Metville, Coulmiers, Nantes and Forges, in France, and Schleswigjagel in Germany.

German aircraft struck back at Britain's coastal regions Thursday night, but the air and home security ministries said little damage and no casualties resulted. One of the raiders was destroyed.

The night thrusts followed heavy daylight attacks on the submarine slips at Kiel and the Heinkel plane factory at Warnemünde by strong forces of American bombers which shot down more than 30 Nazi fighters attempting to intercept them.

Supporting the American attacks, a Canadian Spitfire fighter squadron destroyed three enemy fighters during operations over Holland.

time near Belgorod, but ended with a German withdrawal after Nazi counterattacks had failed, the report said.

The Russians said action in the Donets basin was confined to reconnaissance thrusts, and on the Leningrad front intermittent action flared again with artillery barrages. Soviet airmen smashed or set afire five enemy troop trains in the Leningrad area, the Russian communiqué added.

The Wednesday toll on all fronts was 36 enemy tanks and 63 planes, according to the bulletin.

Grand Council Of Fascists Held; 1 Still at Large

LONDON (CP) — Transocean, German propaganda agency, reported today that all members of the Italian Fascist Grand Council except one had been arrested.

It did not identify the exception, except to say he was "particularly radical," nor did it give any reason for his escape.

Members of the now outlawed council included Benito Mussolini, Count Galeazzo Ciano, his son-in-law, Carlo Scorza, secretary of the Fascist Party; Roberto Farinacci, former secretary of the Fascist Party; Count Dino Grandi, Marshal Emilio de Bono, Giuseppe Bastiani, former secretary of the Grand Council; Luigi Federzoni, and other widely known Italians.

The Transocean report was broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

Prisoners to Harvest Crops

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA — From the mixed farms of eastern Canada to the wheat-growing acres of the prairie provinces, German and Italian prisoners of war labor may assist this autumn in the harvest of what is hoped to be the heaviest crop of foodstuffs since the war commenced.

Prisoners are being used now by tens of thousands in farm areas of the U.S. Midwest.

Here is the plan which the authorities have tentatively evolved: German and Italian prisoners of war, excluding non-commissioned and commissioned officers, will be mobilized into harvesting squadrons. These will become mobile units operating wherever the need for harvest labor becomes acute. Thus, they might be detailed first to garner the peach crop in the Niagara peninsula, then to lend a hand with the harvesting of the tobacco crop in the western Ontario sector of Kent and Essex, and finally to help with the thrashing of the grain crop on the western prairies.

These detachments of Italian and German war prisoners may become the wartime counterpart of the harvesting crews that used to be recruited each autumn in every locality of rural Canada, before the demand for manpower for specifically war purposes de-

2 Confess Murder In Detroit Riot

DETROIT (AP) — Prosecutor William E. Dowling said today police have told him "a story of cold-blooded murder" of a negro during the Detroit race riots on June 21.

Confessions of Aldo Trani, 16, and Armando Mastantuano, 20, Dowling said, accounted for the slaying of Moses Kleka, 58-year-old negro shot down as he waited for a street car.

Police today also held Leo Tipton, negro, described by Dowling as a "key figure" in the riots. The prosecutor said Tipton seized a public address microphone at a gathering of 500 negroes late the evening of June 20 and shouted, "everybody come on, there is a riot at Belle Isle and they have killed a colored lady and her baby." Tipton will be charged with inciting to riot, Dowling said.

Spread of this false rumor through the negro district, police have said, was largely responsible for swelling the rioting to proportions where it caused the deaths of 34 persons.

The Kleka slaying was one of 13 riot deaths listed as unsolved.

Nanaimo Arena Lease Considered in Secret

NANAIMO — In a secret session, Nanaimo City Council have discussed details of an offer from the Boeing Aircraft Co. of Vancouver to lease Nanaimo's three-year-old arena for the establishment of an aircraft assembly plant.

After the meeting a spokesman for the arena committee of the council said no announcement on the issue will be made until negotiations have concluded.

It is understood the possibility of basing an army hockey team of Allan Cup calibre in Nanaimo this winter is being given serious consideration in connection with the offer and coast military officials are studying the question after taking it up with army sports officers.

Ross Munro Tells of Victoria's Princess Pats 'In Bloody Battle' Through Streets of Leonforte

By ROSS MUNRO

LEONFORTE, Sicily (Delayed CP Cable) — Through shattered streets and past battered houses of this mountain town, Canadian troops fought their grimmest battle of Sicily and successfully completed the assault by clearing out every German.

After they had shaken the Nazis up in attacks Wednesday day and night (July 21), the troops in mid-morning of Thursday (July 22), attacked Leonforte supported by a large number of field guns. Bloody and confused fighting raged all day in boiling heat.

A Canadian regiment with a fine record in the first Great War war lived up to its highest traditions.

(At the time Munro wrote this dispatch Canadian regiments in Sicily had not been identified. Today the nine battalions comprising the First Division were officially named by Allied headquarters. The unit referred to in Munro's description of this action is the Princess Pats.)

By nightfall German resistance in Leonforte had ended and we were in hill positions to the north of the town.

In Leonforte a group, including a colonel, was cut off most of the night and morning in stone buildings in the centre of the town, with German tanks and infantry trying to drive them out. They hung on until they were relieved.

I spent a couple of hours with the gallant troops, hearing their story from officers and men trying to rest in the sun on captured German positions.

I drove all over Leonforte as the Canadians pushed on past the town and on the main street and down sinister alleys there was evidence of the no-quarter struggle.

Piles of Nazi Dead Awaiting Burial

Piles of dead Germans at street corners were awaiting burial and German soldiers lay dead by their machine guns on the hillside outskirts. Hundreds of them must have been killed around here as they resisted until the Canadians swarmed over them.

The first company into town was commanded by Capt. Rowan Coleman of Montreal, who served with the British 1st army in Tunisia last winter. Tanks advanced first and infantry followed along the road which curves along the hillside and dips into a gulch where the Royal Canadian Engineers had rebuilt a bridge the night before under fire, then rises gradually to Leonforte, which at the time was filled with Germans.

Capt. Coleman and his men moved into attack standing, sitting and crouching on anti-tank guns and the trucks which were hauling them. Some were hanging onto the barrels of guns being rushed up to give the infantry and tanks immediate support.

Germans sniped and machine-gunned the Canadians all the way along the mile stretch of deathly road to Leonforte.

The Canadian tanks thundered into the town in a cloud of dust and the infantry rode into the outskirts on anti-tank guns and vehicles, then jumped off and scattered through the streets.

Riflemen stalked Germans from door to door, creeping along ditches and walls of houses. Snipers were in upstairs windows, behind shutters and back of iron railings of the tiny balconies which jut out of the second story of practically every Sicilian house.

The commanding officer, who was a school teacher of Medicine Hat, Alta., described the action. He said:

"The street fighting was a grim, real scrap. Coleman and his company did a magnificent job."

The Canadian tanks pulled off into the reeking chasm of a side alley running from the main street. Down the main street came three German tanks going in to attack the infantry with rapid-fire machine guns and cannon. The Nazi panzermen drove right into ambush. One Canadian tank crew held its fire until the leading German tank was 20 yards away and then blasted its turret off with gunfire.

Canadian Infantry Clear Out Houses

I saw the wrecked tank in Leonforte this morning (July 24), a charred ruin with its turret 50 yards away from the wreckage. The other German tanks beat a speedy retreat and Canadian Infantry continued their house-clearing street fighting.

Germans shelled the town at frequent intervals. Leonforte was an inferno of gunfire and close-in fighting. In the centre of the town infantry came to the relief of the two companies with the commanding officer and Maj. Bill Crompt and Maj. Bill Bury, both of Edmonton, who had been cut off in Leonforte and fought the Germans all around them throughout the night.

They were being hunted down by German tanks and infantry, and were making their last stand in three houses when the infantry rushed up the streets to raise the siege.

Coleman said the unit piled out of the wrecked houses, patting infantrymen on the back and shouting their thanks. "Bury even pushed a bottle of vino into my face," said Coleman.

A lone company of infantry pressed up the streets and fought its way to the station on the other side of the town. One group battled over the hills on the northern fringe of the town and got to the station.

Subalterns in this action with Coleman included Lieut. R. W. (Sammy) Potts, son of Maj. Gen. A. E. Potts, former commander of the 1st Division, now in command of troops on Vancouver Island with headquarters at Victoria, B.C.

Canadian tanks were blocked by enemy mines north of the town and Coleman's company hung on till the rest came up. A platoon commanded by Lieut. Rex Carey of Victoria attacked and overran three machine gun posts and an anti-tank gun.

On ridges overlooking the town there were scores of German dead.

The leading platoon, commanded by Lieut. W. L. Smith of Toronto, got down on the forward slope in a vineyard when it was attacked at point-blank range by two German tanks firing incendiary shells and using rapid-fire machine guns. Smith and his platoon had to fight like inspired men to hold the position.

Finally Maj. E. T. A. Paquet of Quebec City brought his company into the town to mop up. They cleared the last of the snipers out of the houses and ended the confusion. The adjutant of the battalion in this action was Capt. William (Buck) Watson of Edmonton.

Medical Section Did Heroic Work

After telling me the general story, the commanding officer praised the work of Capt. George Fairfield, the Winnipeg Regiment's medical officer, and members of the medical section which evacuated casualties for hours under machine gun fire and shelling. They moved the wounded from the front down the street to the local hospital where Fairfield treated the cases.

The commanding officer said every stretcher-bearer and orderly did a splendid job, but he mentioned Cpl. Bob Middleton of Winnipeg who made a number of trips over fire-swept areas to bring back the wounded.

Walking around the town, looking at the damage and trying to piece together the story, I talked with one group who had been through the assault. The group included Pte. Ernest Balmer, Cpl. K. K. Northward, Ptes. Fred Schultz, Mike Frankovich, all of Winnipeg; Leo Jantzen of Victoria; Joe Flanagan, a fighting Irishman from Jacquet River, N.B.; Alex Hodgson of Port Arthur, Ont., and Cpl. Bill Thomas of Vancouver.

They said the sniping was fierce all the way and made for slow going down the streets as they had to keep under the cover of walls and keep banging away at upstairs windows. Several men had to chase the Germans to the top floors before capturing them. They were very surprised at the youth of the German soldiers, some being 16 and 17.

They also said the prisoners were greatly impressed by our artillery barrages, and one veteran of the Russian front said it compared with some of the shelling he had undergone at Stalingrad.

A triumph a few miles to the right of Leonforte completed the success in this sector after four days of fighting. Now the civilians are crowding back into Leonforte after fleeing to caves and leaving the town deserted except for the Germans when the battle raged.

Canadians at Leonforte were up against the best part of the 1st Panzer Grenadier Regiment, which includes three battalions loaded down with machine-guns and mortars. They have strong supporting arms, too, and in confined country like this the Canadians cannot bring the whole weight of their force to bear on the enemy at one time, according to staff officers.

Infantrymen in the assault said the toughest job of all was getting the Germans out of caves and houses. Pte. John Fofonoff of Calgary, who participated in the attack on Leonforte, said it was a wild business.

"We had a real fight in the town," he said. "We were going along fine until we ran into two German tanks at a corner with a flock of grenadiers behind them. There was a lot of shooting in the darkness. We made quite a mess of the place."

Canadian Tanks Bag 3 Panzers

A squadron of Canadian tanks had a scrap with Nazi tanks near Leonforte, knocking out three without loss. Anti-tank gunners destroyed another German tank during the night, firing tracers from a 700-yard range.

In another dispatch Munro tells of other action in Leonforte involving a Canadian unit, now identified as the Loyal Edmonton Regiment. Munro said:

Five German tanks roared through the streets to try to stop the attack of the Edmonton. The Canadians scattered in small groups and there was confused fighting throughout the town.

The commanding officer with Maj. Bill Crompt, Maj. Bill Bury and Capt. Ed. Pritchard, all of Edmonton, and the elements of two companies struck together in the middle of Leonforte and were surrounded by what they estimated to be two companies of German infantry and those menacing tanks.

Wireless communication was disrupted and they could not send messages to brigade headquarters although they could hear the brigade trying to reach them by wireless. For a while the brigadier thought they had been annihilated but actually they were putting up a superb show without severe casualties.

The Nazi tank crews knew approximately where the Canadians were holding out in the buildings and plastered them with cannon and machine-gun fire. At one stage they fired mortar bombs straight down the streets like a field gun.

They also fired 88 millimetre shells down the dark streets. It was mad street fighting for hours.

The Canadians stuck it out until relief came into the town behind tanks about 11 a.m. Thursday, July 22.

Just before this, however, German infantry began a systematic house clearing on the street where the group was located, throwing grenades into houses. They were about 10 hours away when suddenly they turned and ran. Somebody in the beleaguered party let out a whoop. Canadian tanks and infantry were coming up the other end of the street and the besieged group helped them clean out the town.

One company led by Capt. Pat Tighe made a night assault over the hills to the right of the town after fighting through part of Leonforte.

They cut up towards Assoro where other troops were scaling a cliff. (These other troops, from an eastern Ontario Regiment, reached the cliff top to flank the Germans in Assoro and played a major part in ousting them from that town clinging to a mountainside.)

Fought Way Back Through Enemy Lines

The company cleaned out several machine-gun posts and infiltrated into the enemy lines to a considerable depth. They stayed in the hills overnight and when the rest of the battalion didn't join them they went right back again through the enemy lines to join the main part of the regiment to organize for further assaults after the confusion of the night.

Second in command in this action and at Piazza Armerina several days earlier was Maj. Ted Day and the company commanders were Bury, Crompt, Capt. Alex. Giehrst, Maj. Archie Donald and Capt. Wilf. Backman. One headquarters officer was Lieut. Bill Longhurst. All of them were pepped up at the way the regiment fought in two big actions.

As with others fighting at Leonforte, the doctors, the stretcher-bearers and the rest of the medical section were lauded for the way they tended the wounded. Capt. I. L. Lazarek of Winnipeg, the medical officer, drove amid bursting mortar bombs, collecting casualties.

At Piazza Armerina, 20 miles south of here on the road to Enna, the regiment had its first big action, clashing with the Germans for the first time. A company commanded by Crompt led the advance and the infantry rode from Callagione towards Piazza Armerina on the top of tanks.

A few miles south of that road centre German machine-gunners on commanding hills fired on the Canadians. They scrambled off the tanks and deployed the hills and searched out the Germans.

Crompt said the Canadians were so weary from long marches that they were grabbing 40 winks shut-eye while lying on their stomachs to avoid Nazi shelling. The attack began at noon and by dusk the troops had captured Piazza Armerina with the Germans retreating to the north. Canadian tanks supported the infantry attack in this action.

Ford Voyages On 80th Birthday

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford, one of the most active elder statesmen of American industry and advocate of the philosophy that "the important thing is to keep going," was 80 years old today and anticipating many more years of hard work.

He spent the day aboard one of the Ford ore carriers en route with Mrs. Ford to their summer lodge in the Huron Mountains in northern Michigan for a three weeks' vacation.

Since the death recently of his only son, Edsel Ford, the noted industrialist, again president and general manager of the huge family-owned Ford Motor Company, has worked harder than for many years. Yet, he appeared in the best of health as he boarded the ship.

Bronzed, slender and energetic, Ford at 80 carries his years lightly.

Disclaiming any desire to make money, Ford said: "The profits we are most interested in are those the public gets from using the commodities that industry produces. After all, the only real profit is the general benefit."

Denver Rations Ice

DENVER (AP) — Iceless soft drinks and highballs... coolers without ice... draught beer dispensers closing down...

These are some of the results of a shortage that has forced the rationing of ice in Denver for the next two months.

The scarcity was caused largely by a doubling in the past year of shipments of fruits and vegetables, which require vast quantities of ice. The war has also boosted the city's population. Capacity of existing equipment to manufacture ice can't meet the demand.

Certificates of priority will be granted only to those who use ice for shipments of perishable fruits and vegetables, military users and persons requiring it for processing and preserving medicines. Even they won't get as much as they want.

Some bartenders predict they no longer will sell draft beer—no way to keep it cool.

Cardinal in Sicily Offers Co-operation

PALERMO, Sicily (Delayed, AP)—Lt. Gen. Geo. S. Patton, commanding the U.S. force in Sicily, has received from Lual Cardinal Lavitrino an offer of co-operation by the Catholic Church and the people in occupied territory.

The prelate told the American commander he hoped the struggle on Italian soil would be ended soon.

Gen. Patton visited the cardinal in a nearby city to which he had moved some time ago from his town residence because of heavy Allied air raids on Palermo. His residence has not been damaged, however, nor was the historic Palermo cathedral.

Ontario Troops Climb Precipice At Dawn to Capture Vital Point

By ROSS MUNRO

ASSORO, Sicily (Delayed, CP)—Clambering up a 2,500-foot precipice, an eastern Ontario regiment stormed the crest in a pre-dawn attack, captured the town of Assoro and drove a strong German force from the mountain peak on which it is situated.

The attack, carried out in moonlight up the sheer face of a cliff which the enemy thought it was impossible to scale, took the Germans by surprise.

The exploit, during the night of July 21-22, was one of the most daring and heroic of any performed by the Canadians during the invasion of Sicily.

The Germans were dug in strongly on the slopes south of Assoro and were in strength in the town. They apparently counted on the cliff on the eastern side of the town as a natural defence and an obstacle no army would assault. But the Canadians did what the enemy thought impossible.

On Tuesday afternoon, July 20, a careful but dangerous reconnaissance of the Assoro cliffs was made by officers who crept into an orchard a mile from the base of the precipice. Details of the attack were completed for this back-door surprise. After dark the eastern Ontario regiment moved forward as a single column to the base of the cliff.

The commanding officer said one company was stripped down to bare essentials as an assault company, armed with a large number of automatic weapons. The men started to climb the cliff silently in bright moonlight at about 4 a.m. July 21. By 5:05 a.m. they had reached the top of the 2,500-foot crest, just as dawn was breaking.

NAZIS SURPRISED

"The Boches weren't expecting us to come up the cliff and we made the top without a shot being fired," the commanding officer said. "The only Germans we found on the peak were three observation men who were directing the gunfire against our troops the day before."

The crest was rapidly cleared and the Canadians took over the German trenches. By this time it was broad daylight and the Germans on the forward slope and in the town realized that the Canadian battalion had performed a near-miracle. Then the fighting started and there were sharp exchanges of fire between the Canadians and the Germans in the town.

"The Huns were milling around the town and our men shot up truckloads of them when they tried to clear out of the narrow streets," the C.O. continued. "There was sniping such as I have never seen. It was guerrilla and mountain warfare rolled into one."

The Germans then began to shell the Canadians on the crest and kept it up for hours. Nazi machine-guns got the range and the sniping became fiercer. There was mortar fire, too.

The enemy artillery even performed as snipers, with 88 MM. guns shooting practically with open sights, trying to dislodge the pockets of infantry. Canadian transport tried to come up a road leading to the crest, but was ambushed by German artillery fire. The vehicles were not only blocked by a huge crater but also stopped by shells.

The regiment was cut off by mid-afternoon and running short of food and ammunition, for they were unable to bring large quantities with them up the cliff.

Capt. Bill Stockloser of Madoc, Ont., and RSM. Angus Duffy of Trenton, Ont., set off on foot through the enemy lines to get supplies. They got through and Duffy explained it by saying "we ran like hell over the open spaces."

Wednesday night (July 21) supplies and ammunition were packed up the cliff by two companies of a Canadian regiment who were supposed to be resting, but who pitched into this tough job to help out.

One officer said they tried to use a mule for the climb up the cliff and loaded it down with supplies. But the mule got as far as the base of the cliff and then died. Everything had to be placed on the backs of the men. By this time the men on the cliff were breaking into the town and turning out the enemy.

The Germans on the forward slope could not dent the Canadians' positions and were forced to clear out.

The Canadian artillery fire was effective and many harassing German guns were silenced. Finally the Canadians occupied all of Assoro and established a firm grip on the cliff-top.

But yesterday (July 23) when I was there the peak was being shelled occasionally by heavy guns. Beside the ruined, shell-blasted church, a padre was burying four Canadian soldiers killed by a shell a few hours before I reached Assoro.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By JOHN EVANS

Associated Press War Analyst—King Victor Emmanuel's hold on his war-torn throne seems to be strengthened by the very shocks that might be expected to unsettle him.

At first thought it would seem that rumored riots and insistent popular cries for peace might shake the throne and start a revolution.

Instead they increase the importance to the Allies of having in Italy a real head, respected by the people, supported by the Italian army, thoroughly in touch with conditions, and knowing the political complexion of all those speedy converts to democracy who will be trying to raise themselves to power by their bootstraps.

If events suddenly should force out the king, Badoglio also would go and Italy would be a country in chaos without leadership, easy prey for the Germans and other kinds of trouble.

Badoglio, long reputed an excellent soldier by military men of other countries, is no miracle man, but he knows his people, he always has had their respect, and his reputation is but the greater for his break with Mussolini over the invasion of Greece. The combination of the king and Badoglio sounds like a more workable one and a more solid one than any others at this time.

One of the strongest factors in all this mess is the spiritual one. Pope Pius XII may or may not be active in trying for peace, but he most certainly prays for the end of war. Upon him, the king and Badoglio can rely for peace. To Italians, it is comforting that the king and Badoglio are at peace with the church and that the Pope is their friend.

It might be desirable to find a Mazzini or a Garibaldi ready-made in Italy, with whom the Allies could treat, but if he is there he hasn't shown himself. Even if he should appear it would take him time to unify the people behind him. At present, the king and Badoglio seem the leaders of Italy, able to keep reasonable promises.

Fruit Price Control Problem for Board

OTTAWA (CP)—Controlling the prices of fresh fruits and vegetables is proving one of the toughest problems the Prices Board has faced.

While no method of applying a ceiling has yet been devised, officials of the board and authorities on agricultural produce have not abandoned hope, it was learned here, and are continuing a study that has been going on for some time in an effort to bring relief to housewives who have been complaining of unprecedented prices, both in stores and on their local markets.

The application of a general ceiling similar to that applying to other products would necessitate a vast expansion of the board's enforcement machinery, officials said.

New Tire Permits Needed to Buy Used Motor Tires

OTTAWA (CP)—Effective at midnight tonight, used tires and tubes may be purchased only with a tire ration permit similar to that required for new tires. Munitions Minister Howe announced today in a new rationing order designed to conserve dwindling stocks of unused tires as well as those now on the road.

Under a previous order, used tires and tubes could be bought merely by filling out a certificate of essentiality.

The new order sets up three classes of eligible tire buyers and rules out all other vehicle owners as ineligible to purchase any usable tire or retreading service. The classes are A, B and C.

The order does these things:

1. It revises the lists of eligible vehicles. For instance, it raises the rating of certain dentists, optometrists and rural school teachers, and allows tire-buying privileges to farmers who own a truck, prospectors for base metals and oil, owners of moving vans, chain store supervisors, rural auctioneers, proprietors of trucks delivering newspapers to dealers, and certain others.

2. Allows the retreading of tires for vehicles in class C, including farmers, diplomats, rural undertakers, commercial travelers and others.

DEALERS LISTED

3. Re-defines the term "authorized dealer" and thus prevents anyone from selling tires or tubes if he did not sell at least 75 per cent of his purchases of tires and tubes to the public in the year ended Oct. 31, 1941.

4. Compels every authorized dealer to retain turn-in tires for Playing For Time?

WHAT MARSHAL BADOLIO INTENDS to do in reply to the suggestion of United Nations leaders, that he get rid of the Germans and take Italy out of the war is still problematical. Mr. Churchill mapped a course for him. Mr. Roosevelt's warning could not have been more emphatic. General Eisenhower explained in simple language that the new government in Rome had everything to gain by heeding the advice of the British Prime Minister and the United States President.

Marshal Badoglio is obviously in a difficult position. It is one thing to tell the Germans to leave Italy—if that is his wish and another thing altogether to persuade them to follow his demand. Adolf Hitler's Nazi troops are not fighting for the preservation of Italian life or Italian property. They are fighting in the defence of a part of "Festung Europa" which has proved the most vulnerable, and to postpone for as long as possible the day when Allied legions will make their appearance on the soil of the Reich proper. The high command in Berlin is obviously exercised by the effect which Italian withdrawal from the war would have almost instantaneously on the satellite nations. Badoglio is fully aware of this.

This is a condition, however, with which the Italian government must deal without delay—in the interests of Italy. The commander-in-chief of the Allied forces in the Mediterranean theatre has a job to do. Hesitancy on Badoglio's part will not change General Eisenhower's strategy. His main purpose is to take Sicily and begin the land attack on the mainland as quickly as possible. To assist him in that program he will continue to shower bombs on every target within the reach of his airmen. If the Italian Prime Minister and his royal master imagine they will be allowed an indefinite breathing spell in which to come to a decision, regardless of its nature, they will be sadly disappointed. Prompt action on their part, on the other hand, may avert an internal revolution of incalculable consequences.

No Escape This Time

HERE IS ONE PART OF PRESIDENT Roosevelt's speech which should be repeated over and over again by all the peoples of the United Nations:

"Mussolini came to the reluctant conclusion that the 'big war' he could see the shadow of the long arm of justice. But he and his Fascist gang will be brought to book, and punished for their crimes against humanity. No criminal will be allowed to escape by the expedient of resignation."

Wilhelm, Hohenzollern fled to Holland before the curtain went down on the First Reich. The Dutch government refused to give him up. No neutral state after this war—if there are any neutrals left at the finish—will be permitted to refuse to deliver any of the Axis gang. But the world must beware of the sloppy sentimentalists who may be inclined to plead for mercy for these arch-criminals.

Planning For The Peace

REGARDLESS OF THE FACT THAT there is every probability Mr. Roosevelt will receive and accept nomination for a fourth term at the White House, and also because his opponents already are settling the political stage for the Battle of 1944, the six-point program for the rehabilitation of the members of the armed forces of the United States which he presented to the nation on Wednesday is of paramount importance. Its basic principles have the merit of humanitarian concept and economic soundness. Its compact character and the simplicity of the President's phrasing, moreover, should prove a welcome contrast to the numerous and voluminous documents which already have made their appearance from official and unofficial sources. Its main provisions are worth quoting here because postwar conditions in Canada must of necessity resemble those with which the United States will be confronted. Mr. Roosevelt's plan follows:

1. Mustering-out pay to every member of the armed forces and merchant marine when he or she is honorably discharged, large enough in each case to cover a reasonable period of time between his discharge and the finding of a new job.
2. In case no job is found after diligent search, then unemployment insurance if the individual registers with the United States Employment Service.
3. An opportunity for members of the armed services to get further education or trade training at the cost of their government.
4. Allowance of credit to all members of the armed forces under unemployment compensation and federal old-age and survivors' insurance for their period of service. For these purposes they should be treated as if they had continued their employment in private industry.
5. Improved and liberalized provisions for hospitalization, rehabilitation and medical care of disabled members of the armed forces and merchant marine.
6. Sufficient pensions for disabled members of the armed forces. Your government is drawing up other serious, constructive plans for certain immediate forward moves. They concern food, manpower and other domestic problems, but they tie in with our armed forces.

The special committee of the Senate and the House of Commons at Ottawa have listened to an enormous amount of argument and advice on the subject of reconstruction and rehabilitation in the widest sense of those terms. Much already has been done—particularly by the Department of Pensions and National Health—of a practical nature, both in respect of the problems inherent in the process of returning the members of the armed services to civilian life and with regard to the equally difficult problems associated with the translation of the nation's general economy from one of war to one of peace. In the case of British Columbia, of course, the recommendations of the Perry Report should form the basis of this province's approach to that part of the national rehabilitation scheme which rightly comes within provincial jurisdiction. Many of the proposals contained in that document, on the other hand, can be implemented only with the financial assistance of and in co-operation with the federal government.

In the light of Mr. Roosevelt's program, and with the knowledge that federal, provincial and municipal governments in Canada are intelligently anticipating the myriad problems which the peace will emphasize, there is beginning to emerge from the welter of talk and documented generality the outline of a far-reaching plan that should enable both this country and our neighbor on the south to avoid the more serious economic and social evils which followed in the wake of the armistice of a quarter of a century ago. And if the North American continent as a whole can effectively integrate—so far as the respective national economies will permit—their general rehabilitation plans, many of the fears for the transition period should vanish.

Sweeping Coalition Victory

THOSE ELEMENTS IN THE UNION of South Africa which had labored diligently in recent weeks to persuade the electors to defeat the government of Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts have met with a reverse from which it may take them a long time to recover. Although the counting of the votes has taken three weeks—the election took place on July 7—by reason of the ballots polled by members of the services in various theatres of war, the Prime Minister and his Coalition administration have won a sweeping victory and will occupy 110 seats in the next Parliament against the combined opposition of 43, or a majority of 67—compared with 21 in the last House.

The clear-cut character of the decision is best understood from the manner in which the electors disposed of the alternatives to endorsement of the government. Dr. Malan had campaigned energetically on his party's promise that "if we gain power our policy is to cease active participation in the war." It had a certain appeal to the backveld farmers, who for the most part are isolationist in thought and outlook. This element has neither the inclination nor the capacity to evaluate the significance of the main issue of the war. Dr. N. C. Havenga, leader of the Afrikaaner Party, known as Ossewabrandwag, failed in his bid for re-election. Nor was this surprising; his following originally blossomed forth as a society intent on extending the African language and culture, but later on succumbed to Axis propaganda and flirted with the totalitarian concept of government. Its showing at the polls coincides with the rapidly dwindling fortunes of the common enemy. What happened to former Defence Minister Oswald Pirow's group of unblinking National Socialists is explained by the final distribution of seats; this former cabinet member is of German missionary stock and Hitler and company feted him lavishly on his visit to the Reich shortly before the war.

Not only has Field Marshal Smuts increased his strength greatly, the judgment which the people of the Union rendered at the polls on July 7 is a new demonstration to the world at large of the solidarity of the British Commonwealth of Nations. Less than half a century ago Briton and Boer were locked in battle—with the present leader of the government one of the most brilliant Dutch generals. The Prime Minister who again has been endorsed, therefore, may contemplate the remaining years of his fine career with the knowledge that he has rendered outstanding service not only to his own country but to all peoples who value their freedom. History will name him as one of the great and far-seeing statesmen of the Empire.

Help The Railroads

THIS HAS BEEN SAID BEFORE, BUT will stand repeating. Unless the public co-operates, it may become necessary to ration traveling, which would be just about as difficult and obnoxious a proceeding as one could well imagine.

The railroads have done and are doing a fine job. But they have their limits, and those limits are stretched on every holiday. Military travel must come first. Civilian travel in connection with war work should come next. There is little space left for non-essential traveling.

What is non-essential? One might suggest that it includes visiting friends in other cities; going home for week-ends; sightseeing; attending conventions, class reunions, sporting events—any trips made merely for social and pleasure purposes.

Prediction by the United States navy of a long war in the Pacific does not, as one New York paper puts it, "even momentarily check the native exuberance of these United States". Americans are reminded in connection with the warning that "the military tradition of the Japanese is as impressive as ours, for if we have never lost a war neither have they."

Bruce Hutchison

JUST TO BORE YOU

WITH YOUR KIND permission, I should like to be even more dull today than usual. I should like to talk about income taxes.

Our good friend and neighbor of Oak Bay, Mr. Pattullo, has been talking a good deal about income taxes. They haunt him day and night. He is obsessed with the fear that the provincial government will lose the right to collect income taxes after the war, through a conspiracy engineered in Victoria and Ottawa. Mr. Pattullo seems to lie awake at midnight worrying what will happen to this fair land of British Columbia without income taxes and without him to make sure they are collected.

I doubt that this is worth lying awake at night over. I doubt that the people of British Columbia are worried lest they lose the right to collect income taxes, for the reason that they also have to pay the taxes collected. And somehow, they don't like taxes.

They pay them cheerfully enough for war purposes. When the war is over their only sentiment about income taxes will be the less the better. The first instinctive gesture of the taxpayer will be to take down, not to build up, the income structure of the nation.

Unhappily the federal income tax will have to remain very high indeed, to maintain the responsibilities which the federal government has assumed—interest on Victory Bonds, a permanent defence force and huge new social services which the provincial governments enthusiastically demand.

Therefore, if the provincial governments are to resume the collection of their own income taxes, as Mr. Pattullo desires, they will have to impose these taxes on top of great federal taxes. After you have paid a large part of your income to Mr. Halsey, Mr. Hart must come along and ask you for another part of that same income for provincial purposes.

POLITICAL IMPOSSIBILITY

THAT, I WOULD SAY, is a political impossibility. The people of British Columbia will refuse to accept such an arrangement. The best the province can hope for is a fixed and limited share of the federal income tax which it is getting now by a temporary, wartime arrangement. The notion that any provincial government will be or should be free to collect as much income tax as it pleases—Mr. Pattullo's theory—simply is not practical politics. The nation must come first and the provinces will have to take whatever income taxes are left over.

However, if any province wants to spend a lot more money than the province next door, there will be nothing to prevent it doing so by other taxes. It can raise the gasoline tax, or the liquor tax, or the timber tax or the land tax—if the people will stand for it. If a province wants extra-special public services, the people of that province must pay for them.

The larger problem which British Columbia has never recognized and which it specifically ignored at the last fateful Interprovincial Conference, is this: We cannot have in Canada a large variation in public services between the provinces. We cannot have fine services and a good time in British Columbia while they are broke on the prairies; with their schools closed, as happened before the war.

This condition would break up any country. If continued, it will break up Canada. The poorer areas simply will not stand for it—especially as they are being constantly exploited by the richer, tariff-protected areas, like Ontario.

A FLOOR

IT IS NECESSARY, therefore, to put a floor under public services everywhere; to say that in no part of Canada shall public services fall below a general national average. This was the basic philosophy of the Rowell-Sirois Report, which Mr. Pattullo would not even discuss. That report proposed among other things that the Dominion should make grants to poor areas when they were unable to maintain the national average of public services. Some mechanism of this sort must be devised.

Basically our attitude in British Columbia has been one of supreme selfishness. We simply intended, if we could, to live better than the rest of the country, and we succeeded for a long time, until we thought a superior way of living was merely our due, because we were superior people; and to that end we stopped people coming in here from other provinces, throwing them off the freight trains in the mountain passes—all through the depression.

We can't go on like that for the reason that, rich as we are, we cannot survive alone, even if we have the right to collect income taxes. Our costs of government are going up so fast, our commitments are so large, and the federal government's expenses so heavy—all to be paid for by one set of taxpayers—that we shall have to make entirely new arrangements with the federal government after the war and we cannot claim a special superiority while doing so. All Canadians are in the same boat together, and, financially speaking, we are heading into very heavy weather.

GEMS OF THOUGHTS—SYMPATHY

"Infinitely greater than human pity, is divine Love—that cannot be unmerciful."—Mary Baker Eddy.

"Let us cherish sympathy. It prepared the mind for receiving the impressions of virtue; and without it there can be no true politeness."—Beattie.

A free land is one where the majority, thinking only of themselves, are saved by those who think about the community and the nation.

Yesterday's Children

Why Should Canada Be Cold-Shouldered?

From Toronto Saturday Night

With the major affairs of the war going very well, it is perhaps as good a time as any to record our complaints about the way some of the minor things are going, especially since the things that make us peevis are exclusively of Canadian concern.

We do not like the snooty way in which the British and United States authorities are running the western end of the war, as if nobody else counted and especially as if Canada didn't count. We are not so presumptuous as to think that Canada counts for anything like as much as Britain or the United States, but we do think that on the record it counts for enough to be treated as a full partner and not merely as a minor shareholder.

It seems to us that our contributions to the war in armed forces on land, on the sea and in the air, in material supplies and in economic sacrifice make this country a not inconsiderable factor when measured by themselves and an even more considerable factor when measured on a proportionate basis alongside those of our bigger associates.

So, as we tentatively intimated last week, we felt that Prime Minister King was on sound ground when he revealed in the House of Commons that he was not altogether satisfied with the situation in which Canada was asked to concur in decisions made exclusively between the British and United States governments when action by this country was required to make such decisions effective. We hope Mr. King will press his dissatisfaction and that he will insist on the adoption of his formula for effective representation of members of the United Nations on international bodies on the basis of effective contribution to the objectives with which these bodies are dealing.

Ottawa has been too modest up to the present, it seems to us, in its acceptance of the high-handed way in which it has been treated by Washington and London. But the worm is beginning to turn. Even before Mr. King voiced his mild protest and proposed his formula in Parliament, an official of the Canadian government taking part in an international discussion to which Canada happened to be admitted, suggested an even simpler method of determining representation on United Nations bodies which would place this country in second place to no other. It was merely that those countries which made free contributions to the cause of the United Nations should have a say in determining United Nations affairs.

No more than did Mr. King, do we like the way in which the British and United States authorities proposed to ignore the participation of the First Division of the Canadian army in the announcements on the invasion of Sicily. Their attitude, it seems to us, called for a sharp protest from Ottawa. But neither do we like Mr. King's confession that he secured a mention of the Canadians among the invasion forces by appealing to President Roosevelt to have them mentioned. To our way of thinking that appeal savored of an immaturity which supplies the British and American governments with their best excuse for treating us the way they do. We are not suggesting that Mr. King should have ignored the failure of the British and American authorities to mention the Canadian forces in the original draft of the announcements regarding Sicily. But we do think that the matter could have been handled in a more becoming way than that of a personal appeal by the Prime Minister to have the word Canadian written into the announcements at the last minute.

And in all that space just one thing is being turned out—bomber engines!

NOTE FOR HITLER

H. V. O'Brien in Chicago Daily News

Memo to Messrs. Hitler, Hirohito et al. Have your spies reported to you on the factory I visited yesterday? If not, better get the dope. It may persuade you to advance the date when you toss in the towel.

Ten months ago there wasn't any factory. There was just prairie. In less than a year a blueprint has become a producer of airplane engines—the sort that haul bombs.

It is a big factory—probably the biggest ever built. To give you an idea of how big it is, you could lay it on Chicago's business district and it would cover everything from Michigan Avenue to the North Western Station; from the Wrigley Building to Roosevelt Road.

And in all that space just one thing is being turned out—bomber engines!

WAR—25 YEARS AGO TODAY

July 30, 1918. In face of stubborn German resistance the Allies captured Remigny and St. Gemme, while the French held their gains in the region of Serpy; American positions on the Ourcq River improved during the fluctuations of the fighting on the Marne front.

The Life of a Judge

By ALLAN NICKLESON

JUST prior to Lord Hewart's elevation to the House of Lords he told a dinner party that not so long ago it was considered that the chief virtue of the Upper House was that it kept "peers out of pubs."

That remark was typical of the classic humor of Gordon Hewart, former Lord Chief Justice who died recently at his home in Tolleridge, Hertford, at the age of 73. Few public men of his day were more versatile. With classic ease he was jurist, philosopher, essayist, classical scholar and after-dinner orator.

On one occasion Lord Hewart said the life of a judge was not easy. He said that a judge had to "exhibit profound and permanent impartiality, in complete contrast with the invincible partisanship his clients expected of him when at the bar. A miracle of experience and knowledge, he must also be capable of asking at decent intervals 'Who is Gracie Fields?' or 'What is a Test Match?'"

LORD CHIEF JUSTICE

A glamorous personality, he was at home speaking either Latin or Lancashire. He held the post of Lord Chief Justice for 18½ years, resigning in 1940. A large part of Lord Hewart's learning came from wide contact with common life. Son of a draper and born at Bury, Lancashire, he was dependent from boyhood on his own exertions. He owed his university career at Oxford to a grammar school scholarship. While studying for law he worked as a journalist in the House of Commons press gallery.

He displayed fearlessness when taking part in Lords' debates and declined to undertake to "an austere and pensive silence." When the Lords were discussing the Supreme Court of Judicature Amendment Bill, Lord Hewart threatened to adjourn his court every day during the committee stage and attend Lords to fight it line by line. "Odious features were not removed."

LIBERAL M.P.

Called to the bar at the age of 32, he rapidly made a name for himself and in 1913 became Liberal member of parliament for Leicester. In 1916 he became solicitor-general and attorney-general three years later. In 1921 he was admitted to the cabinet and helped prepare and was one of the signatories to the Irish Treaty.

He was twice married. His first wife died in 1933. He wed again in 1934 and his second wife survives. The heir is Lord Hewart's son by his first marriage, the Hon. Hugh Vaughan Hewart, 46.

Paying tribute to Lord Hewart in the High Court, the present Lord Chief Justice, Lord Caldecote, said he "won a place in the history, not merely of English law, but of England."

BEANS

From New York Times
The bean is quite a vegetable. Any kind of bean, yellow wax, green stringless, pole, bush or lima. It's full of vitamins, as sorted, and it is packed with nutrients of the protein persuasion. Green, it has a certain succulence. Dried, it can serve as a satisfactory stand-in for absent meat. It even has a beautiful blossom. A whole garden full of beans would be monotonous, but it would pay its way. Particularly if the gardener had no liking for broccoli or parsnips. What can you do with a parsnip but butter it, or stew it away to be buttered later with rationed butter? Or with broccoli but eat raw or can

Ballet Dancing Hard Work, Says Vancouver Star

TORONTO (CP)—Anna Istomina, 17-year-old ballet dancer with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, says she is going to "stay with it" at least until she's 30. Born Audrey Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thomas of Vancouver, she will perform here tonight.

"Ever since I was 14 I've been with the company," she said. "We've gone to South America as well as all through the United States and this part of Canada."

There's a lot of hard work as well as glamour, she admits in stating that "when we're not on trains we do six hours rehearsing a day and have an hour and a half of dancing lessons." Spare time is spent going to the movies, sleeping or "doing odd jobs."

Engagements

Weddings

STEWART—CAWSEY

A pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 in Gorge Presbyterian Church when Rev. T. H. McAllister united in marriage Marian Jean, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cawsey, 3071 Wascana Street, and Ldg. Signm. Robert Allan Stewart, R.C.N., son of Mrs. Irene Stewart, 784 Gorge Road West.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gown in white satin with lace front panel, sweetheart neckline and long-pointed lace sleeves. Her embroidered waist-length veil was held by a Mary Stuart head-dress and she carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses and white sweet peas. Her two sisters, Dorothy and Eileen, were bridesmaids—wearing gold and orchid sheer, respectively, cut on the same lines as that of the bride. They wore small flower-trimmed hats, and carried bouquets of yellow gladioli and mauve sweet peas, and pink carnations and mauve sweet peas. Best man was Ldg. Signm. Jack More, R.C.N., and ushers were Ldn. Sto. Fred Watson, R.C.N. and Sea Cadet Gordon Cawsey.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Les Palmer rendered a solo, "Because."

A reception was held in the church hall, where the happy couple received the good wishes of their many friends beneath a rose-covered arch. The bride's table, covered with a lovely lace cloth, was centred by a three-tier wedding cake, flanked by small silver vases of sweet peas. Toast was given by Mr. Arthur Holloway, close friend of the family.

For a honeymoon trip upland the bride donned a two-piece beige dress and beige topcoat with British tan accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of red roses and white sweet peas.

Skating Champion Now in 'Wrens'

PO. DOROTHY BENSON

A former figure-skating champion of Canada is stationed in Vancouver in an important wartime job with the women's division of the Royal Canadian Navy. She is PO. Dorothy Benson of Montreal, who enlisted in the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service last March. She is regulating petty officer of the many Wrens working at Vancouver naval headquarters.

Miss Benson won the junior singles crown in the Canadian women's figure-skating championships held in the Granite Club in Toronto in 1928. Then for four years in succession she placed third in national competitions for the senior title. As recently as last year she and another skater ranked third in the all-Canada junior pairs event at Winnipeg.

The Wren petty officer is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Benson of Montreal. Her father is a retired ex-president of the Canada Starch Co. Ltd. Her brother, George, an army major, now holds that post. She attended The Study, a well-known private school in Montreal, and began a nursing course at Royal Victoria Hospital, but decided instead to devote her energies to the Girl Guide movement as a training officer.

A versatile athlete, Miss Benson at school played ice hockey, basketball and tennis and was fond of fencing and swimming. She has skated in competitions in major cities in many parts of Canada.

She joined the W.R.C.N.S. as a regular rating, took her basic training at Galt, Ont., and became a petty officer at the end of May.

Miss Benson's predecessor as Wren "P.O." in Vancouver, Miss Sally Farlinger of Toronto, left recently to take an officers' training course in the east, and has been commissioned as a probationary sub-lieutenant.

Mrs. Nigel Bruce and daughter of Nigel Bruce, noted British screen star, photographed in the grounds of the Empress Hotel, where Mrs. Bruce is staying. She arrived recently from Hollywood to spend about a month with her daughter, who is stationed here and who arrived from the south several months ago to join the air force.

Personal Notes

Mr. de Waal Meyer, accredited representative for South Africa, who is stationed in Ottawa, arrived at Government House today to spend the week-end. Mrs. W. C. Woodward returned Thursday from Vancouver after accompanying the Lieutenant-Governor and Lord and Lady Halifax to the mainland.

Mrs. Hobart Molson and Mrs. J. W. Beaming have returned to Victoria after spending a few days in Vancouver.

Mrs. Knox Walkem of Vancouver came over from the mainland Thursday to visit here as the house-guest of Mrs. E. J. McFeely, Saanichton.

Miss Frances Matterson, nurse in training at St. Joseph's Hospital, is spending three weeks' holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Matterson, Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Alfred Jones, "Rocabella," Victoria, are registered at Hotel Vancouver, where they will be guests until next Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have just completed a trip through the Gulf Islands.

Surgeon-Lt.-Col. Edward A. Sellers, R.C.N.V.R., and Mrs. Sellers of Vancouver, formerly of Victoria, are visiting in Winnipeg, where the former's mother, Mrs. H. E. Sellers, entertained informally for them a few days ago.

After spending the last month as the guests of her mother, Mrs. H. W. Bevan, and sister, Mrs. W. H. Cross, 593 Victoria Avenue, Mrs. Chas. Hunter-Turner and her little daughter, Carol, of Rio del Mar and San Francisco, will leave next Tuesday for their home in the south.

Mrs. Bruce McLagan of Vancouver, with her small son, Brian, is visiting in this city. The guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Whitehouse, Metropolitan, parsonage, Mrs. McLagan came to Victoria to attend the wedding of her brother, E. Raymond Whitehouse, Prob. Sub-Lt. R.C.N.V.R., and the former Rae Miller, which took place Tuesday morning.

About 50 friends visited Mrs. L. Luscombe, 2019 Collinson Street, Thursday afternoon, to honor her 90th birthday. Many gifts of flowers were received, together with other lovely presents, and during the afternoon, Mrs. Luscombe was assisted in welcoming the guests, by her daughters, granddaughters and nieces.

Mrs. J. Barraclough entertained at her home, 545 Transit Road, Tuesday evening, to honor Miss Jean Day, whose marriage will take place early in August. The bride-to-be and her mother, Mrs. W. R. Day, received corsage bouquets of sweet peas, and a gift of crystal goblets was made to Miss Day, on behalf of her friends present. A bride's cake centred the lace-covered table, attractively arranged with vases of pink sweet peas and pink tapers. Those present were: Mesdames F. Filtness, F. Collis, J. Gornall, V. Pang, S. Clarkson, J. Hooker, and Misses Vera Neville and Kay Hitchcox.

Mrs. Humphrey Mellish was hostess at the tea hour recently to members of the Blind Choir and their friends at her home, 1632 Hollywood Crescent. An informal musical program was enjoyed, and included solos and duets by Mrs. E. J. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Partiger, Mrs. J. L. Clay poured tea at the flower-centred table, and assisting in serving were Mrs. M. Noon, Miss Nita Hensley and Miss Marion Noon. Community singing and "Auld Lang Syne" concluded the happy afternoon. Other guests included Mrs. E. J. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cocker, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hensley, Mrs. Scoble, Mrs. Danes; Mrs. H. Watling, Mrs. C. Alexander, Mrs. D. Stark and Mrs. V. Deacon.

Miss Dorothy Waring, popular bride-elect of this week, was honored Thursday evening, when Mrs. Frank E. Waring entertained at her home, 918 Gorge Road West, with a miscellaneous shower. Corsage bouquets of roses and sweet peas were presented to the bride-to-be, her mother, Mrs. E. Waring, and Mrs. S. McMaster, mother of the groom-elect. Many useful gifts were concealed in a laundry bag. Flame-colored sweet peas in a silver bowl formed an effective centerpiece for the refreshment table. Others present were Mesdames J. Angus, G. Wellburn, M. Portingale, H. P. McConnell, E. Rigby, V. E. S. Smith, T. Walker, and Misses Maxine Bolton, Margaret Jean Angus, Elsie Foster, Helen Baird, June McDonald and Dorothy Graham.

Mrs. Norman Simister and her daughter, Francine, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at their home, 723 Oliver Street, in honor of Miss Joyce Lennartz. The bride-to-be received a corsage of pink sweet peas and scented sultan, while her mother, Mrs. Lennartz, and the groom-to-be's mother, Mrs. Vey, received corsages of mauve sweet peas and deeper mauve scented sultan. After the prettily-wrapped gifts were opened, games were played. The lace-covered supper table was beautifully decorated with pastel summer flowers. Other guests were Mesdames W. Brady, M. Finch, J. Grant, J. Roe, R. Smith, H. Brethour, A. Green, L. Keen, H. Evans, G. Buckingham, Misses Lona Atfield and Joyce Finch.

Officers and members of the Victoria Girls' Drill Team held a surprise shower Wednesday evening at the home of one of their officers, Miss Aliq Harvey, whose marriage will take place this month. The bride-elect was presented with a corsage bouquet of yellow gladioli and Talsman roses, while her mother, Mrs. F. Harvey, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. S. Grant, received corsage bouquets of pink carnations and mauve sweet peas. Miss Harvey was the recipient of many useful gifts. A buffet supper was served and teacup reading by Mrs. C. Green was much enjoyed. Other guests included Mesdames R. Harvey, Jean Harvey and the Misses Kay Williams, Gladys Cook, Shirley Harvey, Audrey Kayll, Muriel Williams, Jean Maynard, Vickie Lyle, Myrtle Lyle, Mary Williams, Lydia Gilliland, Joyce Maxwell, Dagna Maxwell, Kay Davidson, Flo Edwards, Agnes McMillan, Grace Ferguson, Bonnie Rawlinson, Elaine Rawlinson, Del Grant, Frances and Rae Harvey.

Miss Eileen Sargent, who has retired from the office staff of the British Columbia Police to be married, was honored when girls of the office entertained at the home of Mrs. Charles Mackay, Hillside Avenue. The bride-to-be was presented with a corsage bouquet of violas and maiden-hair fern, and a huge old-fashioned mauve poke bonnet with mauve and pink streamers, lined with assorted gifts for her new kitchen. Officers and staff of the motor records office and headquarters, presented Miss Sargent with a Coronation pattern set of community silver tableware and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

Mrs. Robert Pollock, formerly Miss Lorna Wilson, was guest of honor at a post-nuptial shower Tuesday evening, when Mrs. E. Macdonald, Miss Flora Macdonald and Mrs. J. H. Downard were joint hostesses at the home of the former. A corsage bouquet of pink roses and white sweet peas was presented to the bride, and one of orange blossoms and mauve sweet peas to the bride's mother, Mrs. Percy Wilson. The bride was conducted on a treasure hunt for the many gifts, Miss Flora Macdonald playing the piano. Games were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Pollock and Mrs. Alex Macdonald. Pastel gladioli formed a pretty centerpiece for the refreshment table. Others present were Mesdames D. Smith, Sam McGowan, B. H. Lamont, E. Harris, Frank Britton and J. McCorkell.

Among guests at Qualicum Beach Hotel the past week were: Miss M. Hobson, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. A. Osborough, Victoria; Mrs. R. Bowen and child, Edmonton; Mrs. M. Hayter, Group Capt. and Mrs. E. C. Luke, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Wethers and daughter, Miss E. Grant and Miss P. Bagby, Mr. and Mrs. E. Galvagno, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Owens, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Hodson, North Vancouver; Mr. D. principal of the school, at Thursday afternoon's session of the public inquiry into Saanich Schools administration, at County Court House.

Milligan, who was last president of the Senior Students' Council at Mount View, was called to the stand by M. B. Jackson, K.C., counsel for commission and related events which led up to the writing of a letter to the Saanich School Board wherein teachers alleged lack of co-operation in extra-curricular duties of students was among criticisms made.

He later admitted under cross-examination that the school pupils in general assembly had been told "two or three times" that anyone who wanted a club could get one and would have the support of the teachers. He claimed, however, that high school students were not trained and did not know how to go about the organization of a club.

"The students didn't have confidence in themselves. They didn't try to organize a club because it would all be on their shoulders."

"I contacted as many senior students as I could—about 40, and a meeting was held at my home," Milligan said in reference to the letter to the school board. "There was long discussion and three of us wrote down the suggestions of those present and compiled the letter, final terms being agreed upon before the meeting dispersed; all endorsed the letter."

A delegation of five of the endorsees appeared at the Saanich School Board meeting at which the letter was read, Milligan testified. He stated, after questioning, that he got the idea for calling the meeting from which the letter emanated from Mrs. F. Paterson, school trustee.

Mr. Beckwith then asked Milligan if the latter had not stopped him in the corridor of the court house three days after the present inquiry began and asked to talk to him, later going to Mr. Beckwith's office. Milligan admitted the visit and Mr. Beckwith queried him:

"I didn't ask you to come, did I?"

"No," replied Milligan. "I went there because I wanted to see you."

Beckwith then stated: "You gave me the impression that you were worried about the consequences of your interview with the school board."

"Well, I was worried about what got into the papers," Milligan said, and admitted to Beckwith that he

Summer School Sidelights

Dr. C. Conway, director of the summer school, and Dr. H. B. King, provincial school inspector, were hosts yesterday on a tour of classrooms for school inspectors from all parts of B.C.

A special convention is being held in Victoria in honor of Dr. Jman Schatzmann, director of rural education in United States, who is here from Chicago at the request of the B.C. government.

Examinations commenced this morning and will continue till closing day, Aug. 2, as teacher-students echo their pupils' annual term-ending concentrated studies. Next week most of the 700 teachers will depart for various points of the province for a short holiday before going back to school.

Many friendships—and, who knows, perhaps many romances—have blossomed during the summer school session, and teachers from Nelson and New Westminster, Vernon and Vancouver will remember Victoria as the hub of a wide circle of friends. Teachers from the prairies and from the United States are also taking back glowing reports, not only of the roses, which are always a subject of astonishment, but of the newly growing hospitality of Victorians.

Rapidly piling up in readiness for an elaborate display on the closing day is a collection of crafts made by the students of graphic and practical arts course.

Beaver-like industry during the past four weeks is represented in the tables of art metal work, leather-work, lino cuts, basketry, wood carving, pottery and needlecraft and weaving.

Teachers have learned new and interesting techniques in paper-work and modeling, book-making and binding, modeling in plasticine and clay, feltwork, plaster-carving and the use of the small room.

"The purpose of teaching practical arts in school is to give the students experience in the handling of various materials, and also to teach them a technique whereby they can express their own ideas," say instructors.

McCullagh Speaks In Ontario Campaign

TORONTO (CP)—C. George McCullagh, publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail, has entered the Ontario election campaign personally, voicing a charge that the provincial Liberal convention that chose Premier Nixon as leader was "rigged by the Ottawa machine," and asserting that he himself "was asked to take part in the rigging of that convention."

Speaking of national disunity, Mr. McCullagh said: "It remained just recently for one of Mr. King's senior cabinet ministers, Mr. St. Laurent, to taunt the tolerance of this province and the rest of Canada."

"In order to create atmosphere for success among his people, Mr. St. Laurent launched into fiction. He claimed he was told that 35 per cent of the Canadian army overseas was made up of men and officers of French racial origin. . . . Mr. King was in the House of Commons, having just rebuked in heated terms Mr. Lacroix for raising the flag question in those difficult days, and yet he heard Mr. St. Laurent and sat idly by."

Mr. McCullagh was critical of Speaker Jas. Clark of the Ontario Legislature for his statement in a recent Detroit broadcast that 45 per cent of Canadians "would vote to join the United States."

"I am not a flag-waving Imperialist," said Mr. McCullagh. "Quite the contrary, I believe in Canada's connection within the Commonwealth as beneficial to our whole future, but I think any man is an ingrate who would speak as Mr. Clark did after witnessing the deeds of 500 young airmen—only 30 per cent of whom are still alive—in the Battle of Britain in 1940 for freedom and the cause of human rights."

Letters to Editor

CITIZENS OF TOMORROW

The type of the world of the future depends wholly upon education.

In the long-term political scheme of breaking down the parents' control of their own children, which breakdown of parental control is necessary in building a future world of non-military, physically benevolent Fascism, one of their strongest cards has been in incessantly treating the children as if they were already grown up, thus automatically weakening the parental influence.

That this scheme has been political is absolutely demonstrable fact. It is not merely my opinion.

It was by flattery that German and Italian youth were hoodwinked and easily led.

A month or so ago, many harassed mothers telephoned me thanks for a letter written on behalf of parents, published in this newspaper. Some of them objected that children, even 12 and 13 years old, should be encouraged to attend dances whereby they are taught to conduct themselves, not in a manner natural to their age, but as if (in all respects) they were fully grown up.

As for the local weekly dances set up by the psychologists, would a curfew (if imposed) have interfered with them?

Mr. Morgan Cracks Mr. Winch

VANCOUVER — Replying to criticism by Harold Winch, leader of the opposition, that he had sought the help of the C.C.F. for arbitration cases and then allowed his name to stand as a candidate in Comox-Alberni, Nigel Norman, executive board member of the International Woodworkers of America, recently said that only once had he asked the assistance of any member of the C.C.F.

"The only time I have asked the assistance of a member of the C.C.F. on an arbitration board was in the Queen Charlotte Islands dispute, for which Arthur Turner, M.L.A., received from the federal government $20 per day, plus all expenses. This should not be taken as any reflection on Mr. Turner.

"If Mr. Winch isn't sufficiently interested in the welfare of working people to accept a position on an arbitration board without humoring and pampering, I am quite sure the members of our union will not bother asking him.

"Mr. Winch is within his political rights when he fulminates, as he is reported as having done, against the proposed new party of Communists running candidates.

"When Mr. Winch stoops to this kind of political mud-slinging at one of the largest labor organizations in this province, the I.W.A., it is little wonder he is worried about his trade union support.

"It is precisely such ill-considered distortions which today hinder unity of the working people. The hope of being the next premier of this province seems to have given him a swelled head.

MODESTY A VIRTUE

"He would do well to reflect that modesty, as well as a strict regard for truthfulness, are virtues not to be despised by any who aspire to more than ephemeral prominence.

"Let him take the lesson of Mussolini to heart.

"He, too, was a Socialist who claimed to fight both capitalism and Communism. Mr. Winch might ask himself whether such attitudes as he displayed are not a contributing factor in driving C.C.F. members who have the opportunity of meeting some of their parliamentary representatives at somewhat closer quarters than the ordinary voter, to seek another and more effective vehicle for their Socialist aspirations.

"I know how ashamed I would have felt on reading this speech if I were still a member of the C.C.F., as I was from 1936 to 1940, and I imagine many sincere C.C.F. members today will feel the same way.

"But I hope for his sake his other statements are better founded than that in which he declares I am 'running for election as a Communist' in Comox-Alberni.

"He knows quite well I am running as the selection of the trade unions of that constituency, nominated by unanimous vote at a union convention at which official trade union delegates of varied political sympathies, including the C.C.F., were present.

"Common sense and our national responsibility demand today that labor co-operate with all parties and groups who place the needs of the war, the welfare of our fighting forces and army of production workers, and the speeding of victory above the narrow party or personal interest.

"According to press reports, this policy received the endorsement of delegates attending the recent C.C.F. convention. It is regrettable that Mr. Winch ignores this and persists instead in launching a bitter personal attack on trade union leaders and other labor groups."

Grew Own Casket

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP)—The body of C. A. Widener was buried Thursday in a walnut casket made from a tree he had grown for that purpose. He planted the walnut sapling 50 years ago. He died Monday at the age of 88 and the funeral was delayed until a casket could be built from the walnut timber.

COMPULSORY EMPLOYMENT TRANSFERS

Coverage of First Four Transfer Orders

Another Message to Employers and Employees

Four Compulsory Employment Transfer Orders have been issued under authority of National Selective Service Civilian Regulations. The First required action by interested employers and employees by May 19th; the Second by June 15th; the Third by July 15th; and the Fourth by July 24th. In order that there may be no misunderstanding in regard to the employments covered, the following consolidated and complete list of industries and occupations, comprised in these four Transfer Orders, is here given.

Here is a list of all occupations covered by these four Orders:

1 Any occupation in or associated with the following branches of Manufacturing:

(a) artificial flowers; (b) brewing; (c) chewing gum; (d) cigar and fancy boxes (wood); (e) curtains and draperies; (f) distilling alcohol for beverage; (g) feathers and plumes; (h) fur goods; (i) greeting cards; (j) hand bags and small leather goods; (k) household furniture (except mattresses and bed-springs); (l) jewelry; (m) lace goods; (n) metal household furniture; (o) metal office furniture; (p) mirror and picture frames; (q) neckties and scarves; (r) perfumes, cosmetics and other toilet preparations; (s) rattan and willow-ware; (t) robes, dressing gowns; (u) statuary, art goods; (v) wine.

(h) hardware, lumber, building materials; (i) junk, waste; (j) leather, leather goods; (k) metals, minerals, chemicals; (l) paper and its products; (m) plumbing, heating and ventilating supplies; (n) scrap metal; (o) watches, clocks and timing instruments.

6 Any of the following Occupations, in any industry:

(a) bus boy; (b) charman and cleaner; (c) custom furrier; (d) dancing teacher; (e) dish washer; (f) domestic servant; (g) doorman and starter; (h) elevator operator; (i) greens keeper; (j) grounds keeper; (k) hotel bell boy; (l) porter (other than in railway train service); (m) private chauffeur; (n) taxi driver; (o) waiter (other than in railway dining car service).

Under each of the four Orders:

FIRST: Employers are forbidden to retain in employment (except under special Selective Service permit) any man affected by any one of the Orders.

SECOND: Employees, of the classes covered, were required to register with an Employment and Selective Service Office on or before the expiry date of the Order.

Two classes of men are now required to have registered if employed in any one of the above listed occupations. These classes are as follows:—

A. Men in age and marital categories designated under Mobilization Regulations, including the following:—

(a) Every man born in any year from 1917 to 1924 (inclusive) who has reached age 19.

(b) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, at July 15th, 1940, was: (i) unmarried; or (ii) divorced or judicially separated; or (iii) a widower without child or children.

(c) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who has, since July 15th, 1940, become a widower without child or children now living.

(d) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, since July 15th, 1940, has been divorced or judicially separated.

B. Young men who have reached their 16th birthday and have not yet reached their 19th birthday, that is to say, men who are 16, 17 or 18 years of age.

Men affected are required to register, either personally if possible, or by letter, with the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

Any employer or any employee in doubt as to his status in reference to these Orders, is urged to make enquiry at the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

Employees included in the Orders will not be moved if now in high priority work, but nevertheless they must register if covered by the Orders.

Any employer or employee who has failed to comply with any of the provisions of these Orders, should immediately contact the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

Compliance is obligatory under the law, and penalties are provided for failure to comply.

USING snap judgment, baseball fans figured the Army were helping out the Victoria Machinery Depot in the local baseball campaign by knocking over the Navy Wednesday night. We wonder if they stopped to think it might have been one of those favors that backfire. If the V.M.D. should finish the season in the number one slot they are practically certain to meet up with the Army in the preliminary round of the playoffs. Right now the soldiers are the "hot" club in the circuit and we can't imagine the shipbuilders having any great desire to battle the troops in the first round.

Playoff schedule calls for the first and third and second and fourth clubs to tangle in the opening series. Unless they can bolster their pitching staff the V.M.D. face a tough path in the finals. Tommy Musgrave is their best bet and he suffered a shellacking in his last outing against the Army. And Musgrave is the kind of pitcher who needs nearly a week's rest between turns on the hill. On the other hand, both the Navy and Army have secured valuable additions to their mound corps and seem better fitted to enter the finals than either the V.M.D. or the R.C.A.F. who will make the fourth club in the select group. Only advantage the V.M.D. would secure by finishing on top would be a bigger cut when the time comes to slice up the season's profits.

It is strange that all the early hockey announcements are forthcoming from the American Hockey League, a minor professional outfit. To date the National Hockey League, world's number one ice league, has observed a strict silence regarding plans for the coming winter. Outside of a statement they will operate, if conditions permit, the N.H.L. has given no indication of what the future holds.

Announcement that the A.H.L. will operate next winter with six clubs might just be a move to strengthen the hands of Buffalo and Cleveland in securing concessions from the N.H.L. should they decide to take the jump from minor to big-time hockey. It is not definite that either of these teams has given up the idea of playing in the N.H.L. And just where are six A.H.L. clubs going to get their players? After all the player question is the major headache facing the hockey dukes. Selective Service regulations are making it tougher all the time for professional sport to operate and it is doubtful if the major hockey clubs will be able to fill out their rosters unless they can get some kind of concession from the authorities at Ottawa.

In a final blast of criticism at the United States Golf Association for blocking the Patty Berg-Babe Didrikson golf tour of the Pacific Northwest, Royal Brougham in an open letter to E. L. Cheyney, chairman of the golf rules committee, said in part: "Some of us were so naive as to think it downright swell of the Babe to offer to come all the way up here for the matches in Seattle and other cities, without asking as much as a thin dime. I guess we're dopes, but the idea never entered the committee mind that such a patriotic and magnanimous act would bring the wrath of the U.S.G.A. on her bobbed head, threatened to bar the lady from amateur golf ranks."

"All we know, Mister Cheyney, is that a good round sum of $5,000, folding money, would have been netted for recreational equipment for the Yanks on the fighting fronts."

"Let's see, $5,000 would buy 100 radios, 100 basketballs, 100 dart games, 100 fishing outfits and 100 softballs."

"Of course, you fellows who run the U.S.G.A. know best. You'll have to excuse us for being not quite bright, but we read the Four Freedoms, the United States Constitution and the Ten Commandments of Moses, and we couldn't find anything in there that would prevent a patriotic woman golfer from donating her services to a golf match for the boys in the fox-holes."

Lawn Bowling

Play will open in the Barnard Cup competition on the Victoria West Club greens Saturday. Draw follows: S. Barr vs. York; J. Davies vs. Davidson, to play in the preliminary round at 2. Other matches scheduled at 2 follow: Gibson vs. J. Smith, Marconini vs. Davey; Leggett vs. Milne, Findlay vs. Harrison. Following will play at 4: Winner of Barr and York vs. Campbell, winner of Davidson and Davis vs. Dewar, H. Baker vs. W. Peden, A. Hiquelbran vs. Myles. Consolation game for those beaten in the preliminary and first round will be played Aug. 7.

Lalonde Favors Field Lacrosse

By ALAN HARVEY
TORONTO (CP)—For years now, field lacrosse has ranked with Tom Thumb golf, silent motion pictures and mah-jong—good while they lasted, but not likely to return.
Edouard (Newsy) Lalonde takes issue with this theory. A legendary figure in hockey and lacrosse circles more than two decades ago, Newsy tells Jack (Cornwall Standard-Freeholder) Park field lacrosse can be revived—if sportsmen prepare now to launch the game after the war.

Boxla, in Newsy's eyes, lacks the science of the more ancient sport. "The war will kill box lacrosse if field men are smart." Hockey better watch out, too—power plays are sending the game downhill fast. One of his visions is a postwar senior lacrosse league along lines of the old National Union, embracing Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Cornwall clubs.

Lalonde started his career as a printer at $3 a week and derives his nickname from a connection with the old Cornwall Freeholder, forerunner of the Standard-Freeholder. He visited Park in the latter's office and marvelled at the flow of world news over the teletypes. "You can sit right in the office now and be a reporter," he said.

Toronto Argos in Point Leadership At Canadian Henley

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. (CP)

—Art Walker of the Belleville, N.J., Herold Boating Club, Thursday made a great try to give his club the first day's point lead at the Royal Canadian Henley's 91st annual regatta, but his lonely bid fell two points short of the 11 garnered by Toronto Argos oarsmen.

Walker, winner of the 145-pound quarter-mile dash at the recent United States national regatta, repeated in the same event here but could get no better than a third in the open quarter-mile dash which was won by Bill Reid of Argos. Reid's victory together with Ted Chilcott's second in the 145-pound event, gave the defending Henley champions their 11 points.

Only two point-scoring events were on Henley's opening day program, which also included the high school events, both won by invading American oarsmen. Scratches because of inability of oarsmen to get here washed out the high school singles and Floyd S. Nixon of Grosse Point, Mich., rowed over the course alone to take the title.

The black-clad Wyandotte, Mich., high school lads won the fours with cox event, repeating their United States regatta performance. Wyandotte won by a length from Ecorse, Mich., High School, with Grosse Point, Mich., three open lengths farther back.

FEATURE EVENT

In the day's feature event, the open quarter-mile dash, the veteran Reid picked an inside course and finished in the shadow of the big stand while the others fought it out in mid-stream. It was a blanket finish in the fight for second and third spots, with Harvey Hutcheon, St. Catharines, Ont., sculler now in the R.C.A.F., nosing out Walker.

The judges were unable to separate Don Nelson of Argos and Claude Saunders of Hamilton Leanders in fourth position. Russell Reynolds of Ecorse missed a stroke at the halfway mark and finished last.

Walker's victory in the 145-pound quarter-mile sprint was a close one, just two feet separating him from Argos' Chilcott, who in turn had a half-length over Ecorse's veteran Lou Tank.

MINOR BOXLA

In a juvenile box lacrosse game Thursday night, Douglas Tire defeated Yarrows 15 to 10.

Monday evening at 7 Douglas Tire will oppose Oyl Drug, and the following players are asked to turn out for the Tiresmen: Thompson, Fisher, Emery, Bryant, Barr, Browning, Woodley, Denoni, Corbett, Popham, Ranson, O'Connell, Corry, Barrett, Newman and Scotney.

Highland Games Tomorrow

All-Day Program

The sixth annual sports of the Victoria Highland Games Association will take place tomorrow at Macdonald Park to the skirl of the pipes and Highland dancing, followed by field and track events for the cream of the local talent, services and war workers.

Out-of-town bands coming for the competitions include Vancouver Police Band, accompanied by Mayor and Mrs. Cornett and Police Chief and Mrs. McKay; Glengarry Girls' Band also from Vancouver and the C.W.A.C. pipe band from Ottawa. There is a possibility of another army pipe band attending.

A number of teams have entered for the tug-of-war and there should be interesting competition in this event.

The younger dancers and pipers will get into action at 3, although the official opening will not take place until 2 with Mayor McGavin officiating.

Special attraction will be staged by the Navy boys in their now famous display of gun drill. There will be a miniature commando raid staged by the army and the women's division of the R.C.A.F. will give a drill demonstration.

Arrangements have been completed to make this the outstanding event in the history of the association. All net proceeds will be devoted to the Scottish war effort.

Three Ball Games Carded; U.S. Army Team Will Appear

Baseball fans will have three games offered at the Athletic Park tonight and tomorrow. This evening at 6.30 the top-place Victoria Machinery Depot and R.C.A.F. will clash in a regular league fixture, while tomorrow the Fort Worden team of the U.S. Army will appear in two exhibition tilts.

In the afternoon the Washington visitors will battle the Navy at 2.30, and at 6.30 in the evening they will stack up against the Army.

In tonight's game between the V.M.D. and air force, it is possible a new pitcher will take the mound for the shipbuilders. It was learned today last year's champions expect a new mound performer to reach town in time to take the hill against the Pat Bay outfit.

Police Commission

City Curfew Law Unpracticable To Check Juvenile Delinquency

New demands for re-enactment by the City Council of the curfew by-law were heard at the meeting Thursday of the police commission, but commissioners, on the advice of F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, decided not to reconsider the matter.

The debate was initiated by a letter from the Family Welfare Association of Greater Victoria, which asked the commission to reconsider the proposal.

A few months ago the move for the curfew by-law was stimulated in the City Council by the health committee, but the committee withdrew its support after Mr. Shaw announced that the curfew would not be legal without a bell or whistle to announce it. Such a warning, he said, would be difficult to effect, especially in view of the air raid warning system now in use here. He said the law required that the warning could be heard in all parts of the city.

The press was asked to leave as the commission went into camera to discuss problems of venereal disease control.

Speaking of the curfew, Ald. W. H. Davies said "I think it is very necessary."

RESPONSIBILITY IN HOME

"My argument is," said Chief J. A. McLellan, putting in a by-law wouldn't do it. The responsibility for juvenile delinquency lies in the home, the school and the church. It is the influence of parents that counts."

"It must be worked out so the situation is met before police get it," he said. "When it gets to the police it is too late."

"There is a way of making it effective," the chief said, "if you're willing to spend the money."

"If you want to spend the money you can have a vice squad," said Ald. Davies. "But the taxpayers will have to pay for it."

Mayor Andrew McGavin remarked that there was nothing the commission could do about juvenile delinquency now.

The association will be informed that the curfew at the present time is not practicable.

GIRLS' CONDUCT PROPER

Miss Alice Pye, policewoman, who during part of May and June was detailed to night patrol work in a tryout of police patrolwomen to curb juvenile delinquency, said that during her duties she had seen many girls in company with servicemen but they seemed to be conducting themselves in a proper manner.

She said, however, that after midnight, although the streets were quiet, servicemen waiting for buses and streetcars made up most of the street population. She said that on several occasions servicemen had made advances to her and asked if she would care to take a walk.

Her report was ordered received and filed.

Prohibition of all machines vending amusements in the form of games was asked by the Local Council of Women, and the commission asked that the council specify in detail what type of machines they wished curbed.

Mr. Shaw said the request the way it stood would apparently cover automatic music machines. He pointed out that the council had recently enacted a law prohibiting youths under 18 from playing slot machines.

PARKING LAW CHANGE

Tightening of the parking law by substituting the word "park" for "stand and remain stationary" will be asked of the City Council by the commission.

Mr. Shaw said the Vancouver law followed the suggestion and appeared to be working satisfactorily.

GOING UP!

CONSTRUCTION is booming in Canada's capital... buildings are full before they're finished. Stephen Mawer, 31 years a mason, works early and late on a hotel for police employed by the Government. "Time's important," says Stephen, "but my wife always has breakfast ready early. She gives me Kellogg's Corn Flakes. I eat them every night, too... they're so easy to digest and the flavor just hits the spot." Let Kellogg's Corn Flakes save time, work and fuel for you too. Get some tomorrow.

T.C.A. First Plane Here Publicized

Victoria has been featured in the Canadian National Magazine and "Between Ourselves," the publication of Trans-Canada Airlines, in connection with establishment of this city western terminus of T.C.A.

Bruce Boreham of the public relations staff, Canadian National Railways, Winnipeg, provided the feature article for his company's July issue of its magazine. His story was entitled "Victoria Gets Its Wings," and covered several pages. It was profusely illustrated with pictures of the arrival of the first plane, June 26, and of the official ceremonies and outstanding figures who were here for the occasion.

"Between Ourselves," which has 20 pages this month, has been devoted almost solely to Victoria. The front page contains a beautiful picture of the Parliament Buildings illuminated. In a circular insert is a Lockheed Lodestar, winging its way over the Rockies. The editor says that because the Victoria inauguration was "one that demanded special coverage we have deviated temporarily from the program of successively reuniting the various stations."

The magazine records the inauguration under the caption "A Service Is Born." Referring to the 25-minute flight from Vancouver to Victoria the magazine says, "Time is not merely saved by aviation, it is well nigh obliterated."

It pays tribute to the work done in Victoria by the agents of T.C.A. "Fortunately in the case of Victoria, the prior existence of a traffic organization obviated what would otherwise have been the major task of physical establishment on the island," the article says. "The Victoria office was one of the company's originals and has long served ticketing and reservation needs of island air-travelers. Its alumni are of the most distinguished. Wally Courtney, Toronto district traffic manager, was first traffic representative; Graham Gibson, a major overseas, succeeded Wally; Crawford Burns, in Alaska with an anti-aircraft battery, succeeded them and had as a colleague, Clyde Banfield, now ticket agent in Toronto. Evelyn Feeley, the new ticket agent in Calgary, is the most recent graduate of all."

To make the issue all the more Victorian it contains a half-page caricature of Maurice McGregor, operations superintendent, Toronto, well-known native son, who is one of the high-ranking officers of T.C.A.

Fuel Head Here Monday for Survey

A. E. McMaster, assistant to the wood fuel controller for Canada, will arrive in Victoria Monday morning from Vancouver, to meet civic fuel committees and dealers' associations and to make a general survey of the island fuel picture. C. H. Unicomb, local wood fuel officer, Department of Munitions and Supply, said today, Mr. McMaster will remain in Victoria Monday and Tuesday.

Lions Zone Chairman Addresses Luncheon

Leland Parker, zone chairman of Lions International, made his first official visit to the Victoria club Thursday when he addressed a meeting in Spencer's dining room.

Mr. Parker spoke of the necessity of maintaining interest in the organization and for keeping up membership, although the work of assisting the community was not as pressing as it had been before the war.

"Everyone across the line has plenty of money. Even people who needed assistance before have money to throw away now—but that does not mean that there is nothing for service clubs to do," Mr. Parker said. He deplored the fact that so many members wasted time discussing the relative merits of the various clubs, and suggested that more satisfaction could be obtained by doing good in the community.

J. E. Fuller, president, expressed satisfaction in the fact that membership of the Lions International had increased since the war, although over 15,000 members were in the forces and another 20,000 had moved from their homes to do war work. There were now Lions clubs in 13 countries.

Arnold Trevitt, soloist, entertained the members with two songs, "Yeomen of England" and "Give Me the Open Road," with Cyril Warren at the piano.

New Health Officer For Gulf Islands

Dr. G. W. Meyer has been appointed by provincial government order-in-council medical health officer for a Gulf Island district, exclusive of Mayne, Pender, Saturna, Gossip Islands and the south end of Galiano Island, and school health inspector for the following schools: Beaver Point, Burgoyne Bay, Galiano North, Ganges Consolidated, Isabella Point, Retreat Cove (Reid Island).

Dr. Meyer, who now lives at Ganges, was formerly M.H.O. at Atlin and in the islands is taking the place of Dr. E. H. Lawson, who has left the district.

Only 1 Wife In This Camp Hasn't a Baby

PETAUAWA POINT, Ont. (CP)—When 100 army officers stationed at Petawawa military camp three miles from here, speak of home, they are talking about this little hamlet nestled between two mighty rivers, the Petawawa and the Ottawa, in the Ontario northeast.

Petawawa Point has grown up since the war began. Its natives are 100 officers' wives and their children. Only one woman in the camp hasn't a baby around the house. The houses, too, have grown up since war, yellow frame bungalows, fitted to the needs of the moment, and designed to "do" until the war is over.

The name is derived from its proximity to the nearby armed camp. Officers there, allowed three sleep-out passes a week, if duty doesn't disrupt the program, trudge three miles to this wartime village and home. Other nights during the week they can come over for a few hours to have supper with their families.

NOT ALL FUN

And what families they are, enduring inconveniences at this northern point, to be near husbands and fathers. Many of the wives are newly married, have come from all parts of Canada, some from the United States or Britain. They have had to orientate themselves to a swift change in living. The nearest phone is a mile away, and the woman without a baby is generally delegated to walk the distance to send out a message for some young wife in the midst of her new domestic problems.

Each Friday an army truck takes a load of the wives shopping at Pembroke, 12 miles away. There they can get permanent waves, see a show and take a look at the outside world.

At the Point, things are necessarily designed for the purpose of being near husbands. There are three bathtubs, no electric washing machines, a general store that cannot cope with the demands of the housewives.

For amusement they fish, loil on the sands, bath in the river, or take a tramp through the woods. Part of their household duties include cutting their own firewood, scrubbing cabin floors and washing clothes by hand.

THAT'S THE SPIRIT

This is a rugged sort of life for which few of the women were prepared when they married. But many of them, just out of colleges and fine homes, gladly undertook the hardships of a married life dictated by the demands of war.

Out of that spirit they will build new homes when it's all over. Many of them have cast an appraising eye at Point Petawawa as the site of their future home. One woman said, "The place sort of grows on you," as she measured the angle of the plot where her first real home may someday stand.

Langford

LANGFORD—Mrs. V. Franklin presided at the monthly meeting of the Langford Women's Institute Tuesday. A donation was granted by members for the Solarium fund and also for Jam for Britain fund.

Annual flower show will be held Aug. 18.

Mrs. A. F. Baylis, president of the Langford Parent-Teachers' Association, held an executive meeting at her home.

Mrs. J. Braithwaite was appointed treasurer and secretary, Mrs. A. Pedneault, convener, for Better Parenthood Week.

The sum of $20, proceeds of recent school concert, was given the Junior Red Cross and $40 to the school radio project; an additional $15 for the radio was received from the Belford Dramatic Club.

A dance for the radio fund Sept. 10 will be held in Colwood Hall. The following committee was appointed: Mrs. B. Deane Freeman, Mrs. A. Pedneault, Mrs. L. Carlson, Mrs. K. G. Hansen and H. W. McKenzie.

The Langford, Colwood and Luxton Voluntary Fire Brigade will hold a benefit dance Aug. 6 in Colwood Hall.

King Honors Airmen

LONDON (CP)—The King invested four young R.C.A.F. airmen at Buckingham Palace recently. All four received the D.F.M.

The lone pilot was P.O. A. L. Ross, a farmer from Holland, Man., who was an N.C.O. when the award was announced. He has taken part in more than 30 sorties against a wide range of targets. "He is a fine operational captain," the citation said, "and invariably presses home his attacks with great determination."

The others were Flt. Sgt. J. A. T. Barsalou, Montreal; Flt. Sgt. F. E. Mitchell, Brantford, Ont.; and Flt. Sgt. Edmund Hinkle of Long Beach, Cal.

Cheer-up Concert Draws Record Crowd

Garfield White, impersonating a "grand lady" at Beacon Hill Park Thursday evening, received enthusiastic applause from the largest crowd yet to gather for the Victoria Centenary Committee's cheer-up concerts. Mr. White's performance was a surprise feature of the program.

The large audience enjoyed dancing on the green and community singing under the direction of Curly Perullat. Best waltzers' prize went to Mr. and Mrs. R. Grice, with Miss M. Brown and Harold Porter second. Civilian competition talent contest was won by a little five-year-old songstress who said her name was "Shirley." Ernie Vosko, Calgary violinist, and Jean and D. Smith, vocalists, won second and third prizes.

R.C.A.F. Enlistments

Victoria recruits who recently enlisted in the R.C.A.F. through No. 1 Recruiting Centre, Vancouver, include: Homer Dale Caviness, 542 Harbinger Avenue; Duncan Ballantyne, 1563 Monterey Avenue; Harry Arthur Rogers, 969 Westing Road and Thomas Cole, 705 Pandora Avenue.

Summer Attendance Cut for Teachers

Teachers with senior matriculation and a normal school diploma will in future have to attend only one year at summer school in order to get an interim first class certificate, valid for five years, Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Ministry of Education, said today.

The second year at summer school will be required, however, the minister said, before a permanent first class certificate is issued.

This latest move, he said, is "a further aid to teachers, particularly in order to make it easier for young teachers to remain in the profession."

Six motorists paid $2.50 parking fines in city police court today while another driver paid $5 for failing to stop for a stop sign.

Principal, Teachers All Right, Witness At Inquiry States

Declaring that "every teacher and the principal were all right" with her, 16-year-old Betty Dempsey, secretary of the Senior Students' Council at Mount View High School until the end of the school term, told the public inquiry into the Saanich School administration today that every student did not agree with every statement written into the letter presented to the Saanich School Board regarding conditions at the school.

"At that meeting which 16 students attended, each wrote down his story—it was a collected statement and I myself could not give instances of each complaint," Miss Dempsey stated.

When asked by M. B. Jackson, K.C., counsel for the commission, whether she had any reason to change statements and views on the question since she discussed them with him, witness replied: "I was representing those 16 students; they weren't exactly my feelings that I expressed at the school board meeting. What I saw at the school may happen at any school so far as I am concerned."

CHANGED HER MIND

She admitted also that after a further meeting at the home of Creighton Milligan, 18, last president of the Senior Students' Council held July 15, "in some ways my mind had been changed."

"There were 26 students and three parents at the meeting and some students can change their minds by having older people there to help them. I learned that while I was representing 16 other pupils at the school board meeting, I would have to represent myself at this inquiry."

In regards to complaints made in the letter about seeming lack of co-operation between staff and principal, she stated she did not know about that; on the charge that teachers were apathetic toward extra-curricular activities, she said, she had never heard of anyone asking for a club and not getting it sponsored by a teacher.

She added, however, that nearly all pupils went to Denis Brown, when they wanted to form a club and that he had a lot of clubs on his hands.

She stood by her statement that the attitude of teachers seemed to change when Dr. J. M. Thomas, principal, came in the room, and also by the complaint that though democracy was discussed a lot she did not think it was being carried out at the school in the manner in which it should.

NOT ACCREDITED SCHOOL

In reference to the January strapping incident, she told the inquiry that some of the students upon hearing that the High School was not accredited this year felt that administering of corporal punishment by Dr. Thomas and the resultant "loss of respect for the principal" might have had something to do with the matter.

Creighton Milligan was cross-examined by H. A. Beckwith, counsel for Dr. Thomas, and re-examined by Mr. Jackson for two hours at the morning session.

Throughout his testimony, he claimed that at the school board meeting at which complaints were made regarding the Mount View High School, principal and staff, that he was speaking for the students as president of the Senior Students' Council.

TOWN TOPICS

The Arion male voice choir which recently celebrated its 50th year of activity in the musical life of Victoria will present a concert at Beacon Hill Park Sunday at 3. The concert is being sponsored by the Victoria Centenary Committee.

Permits for the construction of a warehouse and office to cost $8,000 and a lumber rack to cost $1,000 were issued to Armstrong Bros. Ltd., 130 Kingston Street, today by the city building inspector's office. The work will be done by Luney Bros.

The City Council was asked today by A. C. Gardiner to consider rezoning of an area in Victoria West to permit him to change a warehouse into two suites. Mr. Gardiner said the city building inspector had refused to issue a building permit for the change and his appeal to the zoning board had been refused.

T.C.A. Carries Ton Of Blood Plasma

WINNIPEG — On two flights recently, Trans-Canada Airlines carried nearly a ton of blood plasma across Canada. The shipments went under a high priority and since there was not sufficient space in the compartments, were carried in the cabins of the aircraft. One shipment amounted to 900 pounds and the other to 345 pounds.

Allies Bite Deep In Flank Of Nazis' Mount Etna Line

By DANIEL DE LUCE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA (AP) — Canadians and United States troops have driven deeper into the central and right flanks of the German's wavering Mount Etna line. Allied headquarters announced today as the Nazis strove desperately to repair the breach.

To take 77,000 prisoners have been taken by the Allies on Sicily.

A communique said the Canadian 1st Division had "advanced farther against strong opposition," and that the U.S. 7th Army front from the north coast inland to capture Nicosia was "advanced in several places."

The American assault had driven the Germans back about 20 miles in two days and threatened to trip the Nazis around Catania or force a general retreat toward Messina. The 7th Army was advancing beyond the strategic prize of Nicosia and exploiting the break-through made in temporary Nazi positions.

Canadians who captured Agira to the southeast, central pivot of the Mount Etna line, were menacing Regalbuto, six miles to the east, and facing another bitter struggle.

HEAVY AIR BLOWS

Allied air power struck repeatedly in heavy new blows to shatter port facilities at Messina and Milazzo in Sicily and ranged over Italy to blast airports near Rome and Naples.

The British 8th Army continued its probing patrols into the powerful defences below Catania, the communique said.

(A BBC broadcast recorded by CBS in New York said U.S. troops were "battering the main enemy defences on the outskirts of San Stefano," northern coastal anchor of the Mt. Etna defences.

(The Italians claimed their motor torpedo boats "in waters east of the island had repulsed threats carried out by enemy E-boats against Italian convoys," but did not indicate whether the convoys were rushing reinforcements to Sicily or pulling troops out of the island.)

Juror Testifies, Verdict Accidental

A verdict of accidental death was recorded at the inquest on three-year-old Lawrence Mullett at McCall Bros. Funeral Chapel, today after an objection by P. J. Sinnott, to a member of the jury acting as a witness, was overruled by Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner. Mr. Sinnott represented the parents of the dead child.

The boy died shortly after being hit by a car driven by Harry F. Eaton, 120 Beach Drive, at Cordova Bay last Wednesday. Cpl. Cecil Pearce and Constable Victor Smith of Saanich police, described the car as having good brakes and tires and a small dent in the fender. Cross-examined by Sinnott, Smith said the car had stooped 136 feet 8 inches from the spot where the boy was lying. The child had run 20 feet across the road before the car struck him at a point where the road was 41 feet wide.

STOPPED ON ACCELERATOR

Eaton testified he was travelling between 15 and 20 miles an hour when he first saw the child within three feet of the fender. He had not time to do anything to avoid the accident. He said his foot hit the accelerator instead of the brake and he was unable to stop immediately.

Cross-examined by Sinnott, Eaton said he had driven for 25 years without an accident, his hearing was not good, and his driving license was restricted to driving only when he wore glasses. He had glasses on at the time of the accident, and his car had been overhauled less than 30 days ago.

"How did you fail to see the child running across 20 feet of open roadway?" asked Sinnott. "I was not looking at the sides of the road. I was concentrating on the stretch of road directly ahead," Eaton replied.

It was then that John Hutchison, 3810 Quadra Street, a member of the jury, testified that he knew Mr. Eaton to be a very careful driver. Sinnott asked the witness why he had accepted a place on the jury when he knew Eaton personally. The coroner interrupted the cross-examination to point out that it was quite in order for a juror to give evidence.

Sinnott took his seat, saying, "Quite irregular."

The jury recommended that "slow" signs should be posted near the scene of the accident. Other members of the jury were: Arthur Pistell (foreman), Kenneth McLaren, Frank Evans, Cameron Pearce and Walter Dave.

Board Approves Plans For 2-Family Houses

Applications of Alec Briggs to convert 1440 Clifford Street, George Randall to convert 2525 Blanshard Street, and Mrs. Gertrude Burton to convert 2820 The Rise to two-family dwellings were approved Thursday by the zoning board of appeal.

The board also granted permission to S. A. G. Crittenden to erect a double garage at 130 Government Street and to Mrs. Mary Barlow to extend a room of her home at 255 Government Street.

A. C. Gardner's request to convert 808 Catherine Street into a two-family home was refused. Mrs. Dorothy B. Reeves was refused permission to construct a shed at 29 Bushby Street.

Motorist Wins Case On Parking His Car

An overparking charge against Thomas Oxley, who has been twice convicted recently of overparking and who has made protests to the City Council of the administration of the parking by-law, was dismissed in police court today by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Mr. Oxley, with a tire in his hand, and a notebook with questions he intended to ask while he conducted his own case, testified he had moved his car 36 times the length of the shoes he had on in court.

Producing the tire, he asked Constable D. Calvert, motorcycle officer detailed to tire marking, to mark this tire as he had marked his (Oxley's) car July 20 on Pandora Avenue.

Constable Calvert drew a chalk mark on the tire.

He asked the constable how he knew the car had not been moved. The officer replied that he could not swear the car had not been moved but the mark on the tire appeared to be in the same place when he returned as when he made it.

"Your worship," asked Mr. Oxley, after the case had been dismissed, "What about costs? Could you make a recommendation?"

"I recommend that you get a parking lot," rejoined Magistrate Hall.

Mr. Oxley then asked the magistrate how far he considered it was necessary to move a car to get around the parking law. Magistrate Hall said he ruled only on the cases before him.

A move to tighten the city parking law has already been introduced by the city police commission.

War Savings Auction To Close Campaign

Morris Greene will be master of ceremonies at the wind-up program for the National War Finance Committee's depth charge campaign Saturday. He will turn the Rotary wheel at the war savings auction to be held at Yates and Douglas between 1:30 and 10.

The event will give the public the opportunity to have a lot of fun and at the same time buy certificates and stamps from the Miss Canadas in attendance.

Mr. Greene, it will be remembered, directed a similar program three years ago when a large sum was realized in war savings.

Monday, Sgt. Paul Michellin will conduct a show in Duncan to celebrate topping the depth charge quota in that district. Mrs. D. A. Grivin was chairman for the campaign. Malcolm MacKenzie, chairman of the Port Alberni committee, also reports their quota over-subscribed.

B.C. Orders-in-Council

Provincial government orders-in-council passed this week include the following:

Wounded in Sicily

LIEUT. FRANK C. HALL
Serving with the Canadian forces in Sicily, Lieut. Frank C. Hall of the Seaforth Highlanders, native son of Victoria, has been wounded, his parents, Magistrate and Mrs. H. C. Hall, 1381 Craigdarroch, learned today.

The extent of his injuries were not made known.

Before joining the army, Lieut. Hall was a well-known lawyer in Vancouver. He was author of numerous magazine articles including contributions to Punch and Fortnightly Law Review. His law book, "Digest of Automobile Accident Cases," is well known.

His wife lives at Parkville, V.I. Lieut. Hall's brother is serving with the Royal Artillery. He is believed to be in England.

Urges Victorians Destroy U-Boats

In connection with the Stamp Out the U-boat campaign being held throughout the Dominion to sell sufficient War Savings Stamps to buy 15,000 depth charges for Canada's fighting ships, the following telegram was received by J. W. Spencer, chairman of the National War Finance Committee for Vancouver Island, from Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, Minister for National Defence for Naval Services:

"I urge the citizens of Esquimalt and district to participate to the limit of their ability to Stamp Out the U-boat campaign. The men of H.M.C.S. Esquimalt, under command of Lieut. P. D. Taylor, are fighting the anti-submarine to the limit of their ability and the knowledge that the citizens of your district are helping to supply them with ammunition through the purchase of War Savings Stamps will be an inspiration to them."

Lieut. Taylor, skipper of the Canadian minesweeper named after Esquimalt, is a Victoria man, son of Mrs. J. J. Taylor, 1505 Beach Drive, and the late Dr. J. J. Taylor, Maple Bay.

Mr. Spencer commends the citizens of Victoria for their generous support of the campaign which has topped its quota of $15,750 for the city. Although the campaign officially ends today, war finance officials urge Victorians to continue their purchases every month for the duration of the war.

Boosting of Prices Brings $50 Fines

Two $50 fines were imposed by Magistrate H. C. Hall today on the proprietor of a cafe and the landlord of an apartment block.

Steve Johnson, proprietor of the Kent Lunch, 1324 Blanshard, represented by E. H. M. Foote, was found guilty of raising the prices asked for food above the ceiling set during the basic period. Costs of $5 were added to his fine.

Evidence presented by J. B. Clearihue, K.C., who prosecuted for the crown, showed prices had been increased by 5 to 10 cents per item for meats, salads and sandwiches of certain types.

Mr. Johnson testified that prices of meats, vegetables and butter had increased by 65 to 70 per cent.

E. H. M. Foote, represented by H. W. R. Moore, was found guilty of increasing the rental for an apartment in the block known as the Fairfield House, 1041 Fairfield Road.

Alfred Carmichael testified that on Jan. 2, 1940, the rent for suite 3 without refrigeration was $38. WO. Edmund McGrath, R.C.A.F., said he was paying $45 a month rent. The suite now has refrigeration.

Want Gas Flow Checked

CALGARY (CP) — Application of Model Oils Ltd. for a mandamus requiring the Alberta petroleum and natural gas conservation board to prohibit the Royalite Oil Company Ltd. from producing in excess of its allowable yield of gas, was adjourned until 10 a.m. Monday by Chief Justice W. C. Ives, here today.

War Savings Auction To Close Campaign

Morris Greene will be master of ceremonies at the wind-up program for the National War Finance Committee's depth charge campaign Saturday. He will turn the Rotary wheel at the war savings auction to be held at Yates and Douglas between 1:30 and 10.

The event will give the public the opportunity to have a lot of fun and at the same time buy certificates and stamps from the Miss Canadas in attendance.

Mr. Greene, it will be remembered, directed a similar program three years ago when a large sum was realized in war savings.

Monday, Sgt. Paul Michellin will conduct a show in Duncan to celebrate topping the depth charge quota in that district. Mrs. D. A. Grivin was chairman for the campaign. Malcolm MacKenzie, chairman of the Port Alberni committee, also reports their quota over-subscribed.

B.C. Orders-in-Council

Provincial government orders-in-council passed this week include the following:

Appointing Miss Robert Patterson, in the Department of Mines' office, as a sub-mining recorder for the Victoria mining district.

Appointing Wm. Jos. Claridge of West Arrow Park as a justice of the peace.

Appointing Cyril Davis, city clerk at Cumberland, as a commissioner for taking affidavits, in place of Leslie Brighton, former city clerk.

Urges Victorians Destroy U-Boats

In connection with the Stamp Out the U-boat campaign being held throughout the Dominion to sell sufficient War Savings Stamps to buy 15,000 depth charges for Canada's fighting ships, the following telegram was received by J. W. Spencer, chairman of the National War Finance Committee for Vancouver Island, from Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, Minister for National Defence for Naval Services:

"I urge the citizens of Esquimalt and district to participate to the limit of their ability to Stamp Out the U-boat campaign. The men of H.M.C.S. Esquimalt, under command of Lieut. P. D. Taylor, are fighting the anti-submarine to the limit of their ability and the knowledge that the citizens of your district are helping to supply them with ammunition through the purchase of War Savings Stamps will be an inspiration to them."

Lieut. Taylor, skipper of the Canadian minesweeper named after Esquimalt, is a Victoria man, son of Mrs. J. J. Taylor, 1505 Beach Drive, and the late Dr. J. J. Taylor, Maple Bay.

Mr. Spencer commends the citizens of Victoria for their generous support of the campaign which has topped its quota of $15,750 for the city. Although the campaign officially ends today, war finance officials urge Victorians to continue their purchases every month for the duration of the war.

Boosting of Prices Brings $50 Fines

Two $50 fines were imposed by Magistrate H. C. Hall today on the proprietor of a cafe and the landlord of an apartment block.

Steve Johnson, proprietor of the Kent Lunch, 1324 Blanshard, represented by E. H. M. Foote, was found guilty of raising the prices asked for food above the ceiling set during the basic period. Costs of $5 were added to his fine.

Evidence presented by J. B. Clearihue, K.C., who prosecuted for the crown, showed prices had been increased by 5 to 10 cents per item for meats, salads and sandwiches of certain types.

Mr. Johnson testified that prices of meats, vegetables and butter had increased by 65 to 70 per cent.

E. H. M. Foote, represented by H. W. R. Moore, was found guilty of increasing the rental for an apartment in the block known as the Fairfield House, 1041 Fairfield Road.

Alfred Carmichael testified that on Jan. 2, 1940, the rent for suite 3 without refrigeration was $38. WO. Edmund McGrath, R.C.A.F., said he was paying $45 a month rent. The suite now has refrigeration.

The Classified Pages of the Times offer Many Good Buys in Real EstateThree Brothers Serve With Naval Forces

LIEUT. PAUL D. TAYLOR

LIEUT. STEPHEN D. TAYLOR

LIEUT. JOHN D. TAYLOR

These naval officers are the sons of Mrs. J. J. Taylor, 1505 Beach Drive, and the late Dr. J. J. Taylor. All were born in England and came to Maple Bay, Vancouver Island, 18 years ago. Lieut. Paul Taylor is serving in H.M.C.S. Esquimalt, a ship which has been adopted by the Mary Croft Chapter, I.O.D.E. He was formerly on the staff of Brentwood College. Lieut. Stephen Taylor is serving in H.M.C.S. Fort William. Lieut. John Taylor is first lieutenant of H.M.S. Snowberry. He was graduated from H.M.C.S. Royal Roads, and had been a midshipman with the Royal Navy before serving 10 years with the R.C.M.P. The three brothers met recently in an eastern port. It was the first time they had seen each other for some time. A fourth brother, FO. Alban Taylor is with the special branch of R.C.A.F.

Canadian Army Gets Skilled Cooks

Canadian army officials make certain soldiers are served nourishing, well-prepared meals. Toward this end, cooking schools for members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps have been organized throughout Canada. Above, right, Pte. Katherine Ziemann of Preston, Ont., is pictured at the cooking school at Kitchener, Ont., as she removes muffins from the oven under supervision of S. Sgt. Bessie Bounsaal of Ottawa. On the left is Lieut. Jean Broadfoot of Ottawa, officer-in-charge of the kitchen school.

OTTAWA—"Mom I miss your apple pie," is fast becoming a forgotten lament for soldiers of the Canadian Army as more and more Canadian Women's Army Corps personnel are being trained as army cooks.

Example of this is the cookery school at Kitchener, Ont., where more than 500 qualified cooks are being trained every eight weeks.

The school is located at the basic training centre, and girls, chosen for the course by an army examiner, carry on after completing their basic training.

Officer in charge of the school is Lieut. Jean Broadfoot of Ottawa. Mrs. Broadfoot is a graduate in household science from the University of Toronto, and was a teacher in home economics in Ottawa for several years. During the last war, she instructed V.A.D.'s in invalid cooking. She is assisted by S/Sgt. Bessie Bounsaal of Ottawa, Sgt. William R. Wybrow of St. Mary's, Ontario, and Sgt. Lawrence W. Merritt of Hamilton, Ont.

LEARN ABOUT DIETS

Not only do the girls learn the gentle art of making pastries, puddings, salads, soups and sauces to delight the male, but they acquaint themselves with the various cuts of meat, and learn how such can be best cooked. They are also taught how to cure meat and how to make sausages.

Diet plays a large part in every cooking course, and so corps members are taught to balance carbohydrates, and proteins and to juggle vitamins to produce for our soldiers a well-rounded nutritious diet.

Further training includes identifying for supplies and a knowledge of the Orderly System of Messing. Only essential equipment is used in the training kitchens, in order that the girls, when posted, will find themselves able to cope with any type of kitchen set-up.

EIGHT-WEEK COURSE

The course is of eight weeks duration, with two classes operating at one time, four weeks apart.

Although the larger portion of this time is given over to actual practical work in the kitchen, many hours are spent in the lecture room.

If the girls are successful in their course, and they usually are, because they are enthusiastic about their work, they are awarded a certificate qualifying them for Group "C" trades pay. Top students are upgraded and given an advanced course in hospital cookery.

Washington Club Undergoes Shake-up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Obviously dismayed by eight defeats of the Washington Senators in their last nine games, owner Clark Griffith announced Thursday the first of what he said will be a series of shakeups designed to strengthen the club.

First to go was pitcher Ewald Pyle, traded to Minneapolis of the American Association for Wilfred LeFebvre, a southpaw formerly with the Boston Red Sox.

An early season sensation, the left-handed Pyle hasn't won a game in more than six weeks. His record shows four wins against eight defeats. LeFebvre has won 10 games and lost 7 for the Millers.

Griffith's decision to reconstruct follows a hectic three weeks for the Senators. On July 3 they moved into a virtual tie for first place with the Yankees, but the Senators have fallen to fifth place, 9½ games back of New York.

July, 1943

Once again, motorists cast a "landslide" vote in favour of GOODYEAR TIRES

Nation-wide, independent poll shows preference for Goodyear tires greater than that of all other makes combined.*

Hundreds of motorists, in every province of Canada were asked this question: "If you had a tire permit, what tire would you buy today?" By a huge majority Goodyear was again elected Canada's first choice tire!

This simply proves that motorists, forced to keep their old tires running, have learned that Goodyear's "extra mileage" is not merely a claim or a catch-phrase, but a definite reality.

Never before, since motoring began, have tires come through such a testing-time as during the past eighteen months. Never before have motorists been compelled to extract the very last mile from tires. Therefore when Canada's first choice tire, Goodyear, comes through that period and remains, by all odds, the first choice tire, there is abundant proof that motorists have found, by practical experience, that Goodyears do give a "bonus in miles and service".

When peace time comes—"Go Goodyear"—and get EXTRA MILES

MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND

Neutrals Warned By Allies Not to Harbor Axis Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt issued a virtual ultimatum to neutral countries today not to offer asylum to Axis leaders.

He also told a press conference that he does not care with whom the government deals in Italy as long as it is not a definite member of the Fascist Party. He expressed a willingness to treat for peace, when the time comes, with a king, prime minister or even a mayor of a city.

In a formal statement, the President took cognizance of rumors that "Mussolini and members of his Fascist gang may attempt to take refuge in neutral territory." One day, he added, Hitler and his gang and Tojo and his gang will be trying to escape from their countries.

"I find it difficult," he said, "to believe that any neutral would give asylum to or extend protection to any of them. I can only say that the government of the United States would regard the action by a neutral government that is inconsistent with the principles for which the United Nations are fighting and that the United States government hopes that no neutral government will permit its territory to be used as a place of refuge or otherwise assist such persons in any effort to escape their just desserts."

A dispatch from London later today said the British government had associated itself fully with President Roosevelt's expression of hope that neutral nations would not offer asylum to Axis leaders. It was officially stated the whole question of a possible escape by Benito Mussolini had already been raised by Britain with both the United States and Soviet Russia and that all three were agreed on their attitude.

67-Cent Basic Rate For Shipyard Women

VANCOUVER (CP)—West Coast Shipbuilders Ltd., announced Thursday a basic rate of 67 cents an hour for women employed in the yard. This is the same wage scale the Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders' Union Local No. 1, is seeking to have established at North and South Burrard Shipyards.

Norman McSweeney, union spokesman, said the present scale for women at the Burrard yards, where the union has agreements, is 50 cents an hour.

Meet at Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Port authorities from all west coast ports and also from Ottawa and St. John, N.B., are in Vancouver today attending the 30th annual conference of the Pacific Coast Association of Port Authorities. Among prominent port officials here are R. K. Smith, chairman of the National Harbors Board; J. St. Laurent, vice-chairman; B. J. Roberts, commissioner; Alex Gray, port manager for St. John. They are on the annual inspection tour.

Blimp Destroyed By Sub; 1 Man Lost

WASHINGTON (AP)—A navy blimp, the K-74, was lost at sea recently, after being damaged by gunfire in an extraordinary fight with a surfaced enemy submarine, the navy reported today. It was the first airship ever reported so destroyed.

Only one man of the crew, which ordinarily numbers seven enlisted men and four officers, was lost.

What eventually happened to the submarine the navy did not say, although if American craft were close enough to rescue the men from the airship they probably were close enough to attack the submarine.

The communiqué said the K-74 was fired on while attacking the submarine and, as the result of a hit, was forced to make a landing on the sea.

Helium-filled, non-explosive blimps have been one of the U.S. navy's principal weapons in curbing the U-boat menace in the Atlantic.

Construction of a fleet of 200 blimps has been authorized and almost half of those have been built.

Smuts Landslide In South Africa

PRETORIA (CP)—Final returns from the general election held July 7 in the Union of South Africa today showed the Smuts government won a sweeping endorsement of its war policy, increasing its parliamentary majority from 21 to 67.

The coalition government won 107 of the 150 seats at stake in the election, and also holds the three seats, representing the Cape Province natives, which were not up for contest this year. Field Marshal Smuts thus has a total of 110 members in a house of 153.

The combined opposition, which campaigned on a platform of withdrawal of the Union from the war, took 43 seats compared with 66 in the last House.

The Prime Minister's coalition is made up of his own Union Party, together with the Dominion, Labor and Native parties.

In Sicily Scrap

Stoker H. D. Francis, whose home is at 542 Elsie Street, was among the Canadian seamen who participated in the operations in the Mediterranean preliminary to the invasion of Sicily.

while opposing him were the Nationalist Party, the New Order Party and the Afrikaaner Party, under the general leadership of Dr. D. F. Malan, Nationalist.

The entire cabinet was re-elected; Dr. H. C. Havenga, leader of the Afrikaaner Party, lost his seat.

5 Killed in Crash

WINNIPEG (CP)—No. 2 Training Command, R.C.A.F., announced today that a pilot and four students of the R.A.F. were killed Thursday when their training plane crashed nine miles west of No. 38 Elementary Flying Training School (R.A.F.), Estevan, Sask.

Explosion in Elevator

CHICAGO (AP)—A dustroom explosion spread fire through the Norris Grain Company's Midwest elevator here today, causing damage estimated at $250,000 and injuring three workmen.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Renewed selling swept through the stock market today, dropping many leaders under Thursday's recovery levels.

Rails, steels, motors, rubbers and aircrafts were prominent in the decline. Volume amounted to about 1,000,000 shares.

The lightning of commitments followed two meetings of the British war cabinet. While the subject was not disclosed, the coincidence with rumors Italy would seek peace turned investment circles cautious.

Among mixed Canadian issues, Distillers Seagram made 4 1/2, Lake Shore 1/2 and Canada 4 1/2. Canadian Pacific and McIntyre dropped fractionally, and Dome Mines was unchanged.

Golds Hit Highest

TORONTO (CP)—Gold listings of the Toronto Stock Exchange today touched their highest level since October, 1941, and the greater part of the gains were held despite profit-taking.

Industrials and western oils closed narrowly higher and the base metals held about even. It was a 1,000,000-share day.

Industrials weakened moderately in the final period, showing a balance on the down side for the utilities, senior oils, steels and miscellaneous issues.

Small gains came out in the western oil list for Foothills, British-Dominion, Calgary-Edmonton and Calmont and Vermilata was off 2.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—Wheat futures ranged 1/4 higher to 1/4 lower today on Winnipeg Grain Exchange, July closing at $1.09.

United States houses and locals were credited with most of the buying. Trade was small and offerings not heavy. Local and inter-market spreading and switching of hedges was indicated.

Nearly 2,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were reported to have been taken by the United Kingdom for export on an exchange of futures basis.

Shippers and exporters purchased approximately 500,000 bushels of No. 1 and 2 and 3 Northern in the cash wheat market. Odd carlots of cash oats and barley were taken for rail shipment to eastern feeders.

Trading in coarse grain futures was confined to rye where all except the July option was active. Some local buying and inter-market spreading was reported.

Country wheat marketings yesterday amounted to 1,322,000 bushels, compared with 1,372,000 last year.

Scene From Ballet

Shown above is a scene from Pas de Quatre, which will be one of the highlights when the Ballet Theatre appears at the Royal Theatre, Monday, Aug. 9. Other productions to be given are: Les Sylphides, Gala Performance and Capriccio Espagnol.

Blondie, Dagwood Yield Big Laugh

If you can't join the army... join the Bumsteads... in a roaring battle of laughs.

In Columbia's new comedy, based upon Chic Young's cartoon strip characters, Blondie has Dagwood in splints, and the nation in stitches! "Blondie for Victory" opens today at the Dominion Theatre, with Penny Singleton again to be seen as Blondie, with Arthur Lake continuing as Dagwood and Larry Simms as "Baby Dumpling" Alexander. Stuart Erwin tops the stellar supporting cast.

YORK THEATRE

"Tales of Manhattan," 20th Century-Fox's star-studded production of an exciting story, is now at the York Theatre, revealing the greatest cast ever to play in one motion picture. Charles Boyer, Rita Hayworth, Ginger Rogers and Henry Fonda are among the scores of stars.

CADET THEATRE

She can cry at the drop of the sponge. She can tap dance. She can give the Gettysburg Address with Lincolnian humanity. These are only a few of the rare gifts of little Margaret O'Brien. For already, at the age of five, this talent-packed tot is a leading lady. She has no less than the title role in "Journey for Margaret," now at the Cadet Theatre.

ATLAS THEATRE

Alice Faye, absent from the screen for over a year, is currently starred with John Payne, Jack Oakie and Lynn Bari in 20th Century-Fox's new technicolor musical-romance "Hello, Frisco, Hello," which is now showing at the Atlas Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Scene stealers in movies have come and gone, but James Craig contends that none can compare with the one that steals a sequence in "The Human Comedy" literally right out from under his nose. It's a bow tie, draped right across Mr. Craig's Adam's apple. And it's no extraordinary tie, at that, just a common, striped bow tie. To impress audiences with the tie's importance in the telling of the story there is a close-up camera shot of it. The camera moves closer until Craig's face is completely out of view and the tie fills the entire screen. "The Human Comedy" is currently at the Capitol Theatre.

Pope Aids Malta

LONDON (CP)—A Reuters news agency dispatch from Valletta said Thursday Pope Pius XII had sent $20,000 to the archbishop of Malta for relief of war victims on the island. Last March the Pope sent a similar sum for reconstruction of Maltese churches damaged by Axis raids, it said.

Australia's Acreage Of Wheat Shrinks

SYDNEY (CP)—Official figures show Australia's wheat sowings for the 1943-44 season, just starting, will be almost 1,000,000 acres below the total of 1942-43 and about 6,000,000 acres below the last prewar season, 1938-39. Production in 1942-43 showed a record average yield of 16.78 bushels to the acre, compared with the previous 10-year average of 12.14. Prime Minister Curtin has arranged to discuss with military authorities the question of releasing men from the forces for farming work.

Heedless lay their eggs on the backs and bellies of cattle, the tiny grubs hatch, burrow through the hide, migrate, and come out later as large grubs; they damage the meat and hides and reduce milk production.

Arctic's Puffins Soon Will Start Long Southward Trip

We are in the middle of summer now, and migrating birds are in their northern homes. Last spring some of them flew a few hundred miles to the north. Others made journeys of thousands of miles.

It may seem strange to think of any birds getting ready to fly southward at this time, but a few kinds are doing that very thing. I am thinking of certain birds which make their nests around the Arctic Circle. They have long trips to make, and very soon—perhaps within a few days—many of them will start southward.

The puffins are examples of Arctic birds which fly southward in mid-summer. They also go by the name of "sea parrots."

Puffins are not true parrots; they are closely related to auks. They are of about the same length as the parrots commonly kept in cages, but have fatter bodies and thicker beaks.

Not all puffins fly as far north as the Arctic Circle. Many make their nests on the Bird Rocks in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Others go far above the Arctic Circle, to islands around northern Greenland and to the Spitzbergen area.

After the nesting season is over, the puffins of the North Atlantic set out for some southerly spot. Often they make their way to the Canary Islands, or to the east-central coast of the United States. New Jersey is the winter home of a large number of them.

Puffins of the Pacific Ocean also nest on islands both north and south of the Arctic Circle. Thousands go to the Kamchatka peninsula, which belongs to Russia. They are among the birds which American soldiers may see on the Aleutian Islands on summer days when fog doesn't keep a person from seeing anything.

One kind of Pacific puffin has a feathery tuft above and behind each eye. This kind is known as the "tufted puffin." It is covered almost entirely by blackish feathers, but has a band of white about its head. Its webbed feet are red, and its beak is largely red.

Puffins can walk on land, but they walk so awkwardly that we may say they "waddle." They are excellent divers, however, and are strong fliers.

During the latter half of the summer, the Pacific puffins spend their time going southward. Some of them fly 5,000 or 6,000 miles, until they reach a winter home such as Lower California.

Stimson in North Africa

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA (AP)—Henry L. Stimson, United States secretary of war, has been touring the north African battlefields, it was disclosed here Thursday.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl in my teens and have a boy friend in the service. We intend to be engaged and marry after the war is over. I love him very much, but he insists upon my living with him before we are married, and that I cannot bring myself to do.

We argue over that every time he comes to see me, which is several times a month, as he is stationed not far from where I live. He tells me that if I love him the way he loves me nothing would seem wrong. I don't think that way, so please tell me what to do.

SUGGESTION NO REAL LOVER WOULD MAKE

Answer: You might tell your boy friend that if he really loved you he would not ask you to do a thing that would dishonor and degrade you even in his own sight. A man who truly loves a woman does not want to drag her down to the level of the women of the streets. He wants to put her on a pinnacle and protect her even from himself.

Consider how selfish and unjust this boy is being to you in trying to persuade you to become his mistress. He is asking you to risk your whole life's happiness and wellbeing just to gratify him. You are not even engaged to him. You have not the slightest hold or claim upon him. He is going away very soon, to be gone a long time. It is just a chance whether his fancy for you will endure over distance and absence and meeting new people, seeing new women, and the changes that will take place in himself. Now he is an unfledged boy, but he will come back from the war a mature man. He may not want you then. You may not want him.

It will make a lot of difference to you then whether you are a girl who has kept her skirts clean, who has lived up to her principles, who has her own self-respect because she has a good record, and who has no shameful secret that she lives in dread of people finding out.

Thousands upon thousands of boys who are leaving for the front have said the same things to their girls that this boy is saying to you, and they have listened to them and to their own hearts. And now the boys are gone and the girls are crawling back to the homes they have disgraced to bear their fatherless babies.

Have the courage to stand by your colors and do what you know to be right. Your boy friend will respect you for it and be far more apt to come back and marry you than he would if you do what he asks of you.

45-Day Fast Ends

SAUGATUCK, Mich. (AP)—Rev. Chas. H. Horswell, 85-year-old retired minister, broke his 45-day-old self-imposed fast Thursday to take his first food, aside from liquids, since the death of his wife last month. He had undergone the fast on the day of his wife's burial, June 15, in hopes of "being with mother again."

Many unsuccessful attempts have been made to find an artificial way to soften the shells of adult crabs, a process some desire because of the popularity of soft-shell crabs.

Visit Him Every Week in Snapshots

What's "tops" on their list of wants? Snapshots from home, they say...

Yes, it's snapshots they want, so let's send them. Snapshots of homey scenes and home faces.

But film is scarce these days. The Navy, Army and Air Force need so much. So use wisely what film you can get. Make every roll of it mean a snapshot visit to him. Send a batch of new snapshots in every letter.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Fuel Savings Vital To Our War Effort

For many years Johns-Manville informed the public that J-M Rock Wool Home Insulation makes a house more comfortable all year round and saves up to 30% on fuel in winter. This year, your J-M Reporter particular stresses the fuel-saving advantages because it is important to our war effort. The Dominion government urges homeowners to insulate for the same reason, and has published an interesting booklet, "House Insulation in Its Relation to Canada's War Effort." Right now, so much J-M Rock Wool is required for vital war needs that we cannot always give immediate service to home owners. This problem will probably become more acute in the future. So, if you are planning to insulate your home, we suggest you get complete information as soon as possible. Write for free copy of government insulation booklet to Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto.
